Weekend Moon Shot Is Likely Atlas-able Rocket Groomed for Try

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The moon is in a favorable position as a target and the United States is ready to take a shot at it.

Scientists here are grooming a mammoth Atlas-Able rocket for the difficult task of hurling the first satellite about the moon. The attempt could come this weekend.

388-Pound Payload

The Atlas-Able, standing nearly 10 stories high, carries a 388-pound payload jammed with instruments to make the most thorough study ever attempted of lunar environment. The spacecraft called Pioneer VI, is designed to probe radiation, magnetic fields and micrometeorites as it whirls in an orbit 1,500 to 2,500 miles from the moon's surface.

The collection of this data is necessary if man is to make space flights to the moon. If he is not properly protected, deadly radiation could kill him before he reached the moon. And a strong magnetic field could upset an adequate space vehicle guidance system.

230,000 Miles From Earth

If Pioneer VI follows the intended course, it will reach a point about 5,000 miles from the moon in 62 hours. Then the start-and-stop rocket will be fired in reverse to slow the satellite so it will be drawn into the moon's gravitational field. The moon will be about 230,000 miles from earth.

Peiping Appears Headed for New U.N. Seat Defeat

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Red China's perennial bid for a U.N. seat appeared headed for another flat rebuff in the powerful steering committee today despite Communist efforts.

The United States was expected to call on the committee to shelve the explosive seating issue for another year, and thus avoid a long, bitter debate in the 160-nation General Assembly.

Observers predicted only seven members of the 21-nation steering group would oppose sidetracking the question. Those understood to oppose bypassing debate on the seating issue are the Soviet Union, Bulgaria, Romania, Ceylon, Yugoslavia, Iraq and Ireland.

India has spearheaded the seat-peiping move in recent years, but with the bitter Chinese-Indian border dispute still unsettled, she has stepped aside and let the Soviet Union do the spadework.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said on the eve of his departure from Moscow that Red China should have the seat now held by the Nationalists. But with Moscow embroiled in an ideological squabble with the Communist Chinese, the Soviets are reported not too enthusiastic about pushing Peiping's cause in the U.N.

If defeated in the steering committee, the Communists are expected to wage a fight to overturn the decision when the agenda goes before the Assembly for approval, but diplomats expressed doubt if the Reds have enough strength to win out.

State Steel Industry Is Facing Major Blow

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A threatened shutdown at the sprawling Bethlehem Steel Corp. plant in nearby Lackawanna could stagger an already-slumping New York steel industry.

The 16,000-man force at Bethlehem would respect picket lines if the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen strikes the South Buffalo Railway, a Bethlehem subsidiary, Sept. 29. The union announced Thursday its plan to strike. It held little hope for a settlement before the deadline.

Mills in the Buffalo area are producing at 51.3 per cent of capacity, while plants in other parts of the state are beginning to recall workers after a mid-summer slump.

Production here had dropped to 39.1 per cent of capacity earlier in the summer. Twenty-one of 47 open hearth furnaces at three plants were in operation this week.

The total number of layoffs during the summer in the state's 30,000-man basic steel work force could not be determined. How-

Mahoney Irked Over Tax Hike Talk, Says Times Demand Cut

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney said today he would oppose strenuously any efforts to raise taxes in the 1961 Legislature.

"The times demand that taxes be cut," he asserted.

Hits Medical Hike

The Buffalo lawmaker's comments followed a statement by Gov. Rockefeller earlier this week that it might be necessary for localities to increase real-estate taxes if New York participated in a new program of medical care of the aged.

Rockefeller hinted, however, that the state would hold off on the federal plan and see whether the new national administration would support a program that would be financed with Social Security revenues.

Mahoney reportedly was disturbed over Rockefeller's election-time references to tax increases, however remote.

While the legislature could not mandate increases in local real-estate taxes, it could enact programs that would require localities to spend additional money.

Real-estate taxes account for a great part of local revenues.

Thus, the legislature could, in effect, force local tax increases if it so desired. There has been no indication that it intends to do so in connection with the medical-care plan.

Flemming Raps Rockey

In Washington yesterday, Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming took a verbal slap at Rockefeller when he was asked at a news conference for comment on the governor's statement that the program might be delayed in New York.

"The new law," Flemming said, "provides states an opportunity to do something toward helping older citizens to take care of their medical costs..."

"Whether leaders take steps to put the program into effect, it seems to me, is a test of their sincerity. If they don't, maybe they have not been as sincere as they have been trying to indicate."

Mahoney led a battle this year for cuts in state income taxes. Rockefeller since has promised to recommend a 10-per-cent-cut in 1960 taxes if state revenues remain high.

Poll Favors Rebate

New York collects most of its income taxes through payroll withholding. A tax cut would be rebated after 1960 returns are filed next April.

Mahoney said in his statement that a survey this week had shown that members of the Republican majority in the Senate remained overwhelmingly in favor of tax relief.

"Certainly," the Senate leader said, "there is no sentiment at all for the imposition of any new taxes, on either the state or local level...I shall strenuously oppose any efforts to raise taxes at the 1961 legislative session for any purpose."

Mahoney has taken no official position on the new medical-care plan for the aged. A legislative committee is reviewing the federal program, enacted by the 1960 Congress, to see how it would apply to New York State.

Would Cost $6 Million

Rockefeller holds the present program is inadequate because it allows individual states to reject it. States that rejected it, he has said, would be at an economic advantage over those that had to levy new taxes to finance it.

The speech won big banner headlines everywhere, however.

Even Tass carried a 600-word summary of the speech.

In London, a streamer on the front page of the liberal News Chronicle called the address "Ike's finest hour and even rivals applaud."

From the U.N. rostrum Eisenhower flung challenge after challenge at Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

"But they were all challenges in the name of peace," said the Chronicle.

British Labor leader Hugh Gaitskell called the speech "important and constructive."

The Labor Daily Herald said: "America made the most impressive bid it has ever made to bring peace." President Eisenhower's speech to the U.N. was the West's challenge to Russia to throw its immense power behind the U.N. to create a more hopeful world."

Says Ike Missed Boat

London's Conservative Daily Telegraph took the opposite tack. "Ike misses the boat," it headlined.

"His 4,500 word, 40 minute speech was nervous and faltering, and contained not a single new proposal to break the East-West deadlock."

In Denmark there were headlines like "strongest U.N. address so far by Eisenhower."

Living Costs Level Off But Upward Trend Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Living costs leveled off in August after rising steadily but slowly since January, the Labor Department reported today.

The consumer price index compiled by the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics was unchanged last month at 126.6. This meant prices were 26.6 per cent higher than the average for 1947-49, the base years for the index.

Usual August Rise

The leveling off in prices was not unexpected. August price tags often show a small drop but seldom rise on the average.

Ewan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics, indicated he looks for an upward movement in prices this month and can foresee no substantial downward movement in the next few years.

Buying Power Dips

The bureau also reported that the after-tax earnings and buying power of factory workers declined in August.

For a worker with three dependents, average earnings after deductions for taxes and social security payments dropped 80 cents to $80.42 a week.

Spendable earnings were nearly 1 per cent above the level for August 1959, when there was a steel strike, but buying power was about one-half of 1 per cent lower because of price increases in the interim.

Since March, the earnings of factory production workers have consistently been below 1959 levels.

Three Main Factors

The drop in earnings of factory workers in the last year has largely been due to reductions in the average number of hours worked per week.

Helping to hold the August price index steady were drops in prices for food, automobiles and most home appliances.

Machinists Vote Electrol Contract

A two-year contract between Ulster County Lodge No. 1652, International Association of Machinists and management of Electrol Inc., was ratified by vote of union members at the Knights of Columbus hall Thursday.

Anthony Casciaro, president of the local, said ratification of the contract was by a substantial majority vote. Details of the contract were not announced but it was said generally to have provided for insurance and other benefits, more holiday time off, but no wage increases for the first year.

The contract involves some 250 plant employees.

The service will not be available at public telephones.

West Europe Lauds, Criticizes Ike's Talk, Some See Challenge

LONDON (AP) — President Eisenhower's speech to the U.N. General Assembly brought the American leader both applause and brickbats in Western Europe today.

Many commentators saw his address as a blunt challenge to the Soviet Union to throw its weight behind the United Nations in the cause of easing world tensions.

But Eisenhower also drew a measure of criticism for not including some startling new proposals.

On the Communist side of the iron curtain the President's words were received with predictable sourness.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, accused Eisenhower of "virtually burying the idea of total and general disarmament" by stressing control rather than immediate measures for reducing arms.

The speech won big banner headlines everywhere, however.

Even Tass carried a 600-word summary of the speech.

In London, a streamer on the front page of the liberal News Chronicle called the address "Ike's finest hour and even rivals applaud."

From the U.N. rostrum Eisenhower flung challenge after challenge at Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Direct Distance Dialing for 15,000 Begins Tomorrow

Some 15,000 telephone customers in Kingston, Esopus, High Falls, Rosendale, Shokan, Woodstock, Saugerties, and Phoenicia will be able to dial their own long distance calls starting September 24.

Direct distance dialing will make its bow at 9 a.m. Saturday for four and eight-party line customers in Kingston and for all customers in the other communities. Individual and two-party line users in Kingston already have direct distance dialing.

Harold H. Heider, New York Telephone Company manager, said that customers getting the new service will be able to dial calls to any of 57 million telephones across the country and in Canada. Instruction folders explaining how to use direct distance dialing have been mailed to all customers, the manager said.

Would Make Violators Attend Driver School

A county-wide driver improvement school to rehabilitate and return to highways persons convicted of traffic offenses was proposed at the September meeting of the Ulster County Magistrates Association Thursday night at the county court house.

The resolution, offered by Justice of the Peace John Tenaglia of the Town of New Paltz, was referred to the County Association for examination and further recommendations.

In presenting the proposal, Justice Tenaglia stated that punitive measures alone are not the complete answer to reducing the accident toll. A more positive approach is needed to correct the attitudes of chronic violators, he said.

Tells His Solution

Violators and accident repeaters can be rehabilitated and returned to the highways as safe, responsible drivers through the education process, Tenaglia asserted. The practical solution is to change habits and attitudes of these drivers.

Essentially it involves substi-

Hit Demonstrations

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—With the press and the public here are voicing strong reaction to demonstrations in New York against President Tito.

Borba, official Yugoslav organ, said it could find no words sufficient to condemn American officials' inaction toward the demonstrations. It accused the U.S. government of being a poor host.

Repercussions continued from the slaying of a Venezuelan child, innocently caught in a battle between rival Cuban groups in a restaurant.

At the party in the Hotel Theresa, detectives found the weapons as they frisked persons entering the 11th-floor skylight room. The gun was carried by one of Castro's guards. For future reference, police photos were taken of all guests.

Otherwise it was a peaceful affair. An organization called the Fair Play for Cuba Committee presented Castro with a bust of Abraham Lincoln.

Outside the hotel, Communist party members distributed leaflets entitled "Harlem moves for freedom" to an estimated crowd of 2,000.

Firms Are Asked For Position on Proposed Canal

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Business and industry has been asked to state its position on a proposed canal within the United States that would connect Lakes Erie and Ontario.

The request for the stand was made Thursday by Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney, who noted in a statement that construction of the canal has been en-dored by the New York State AFL-CIO.

The labor organization maintains that the canal would improve business, ease unemployment in the building trades, and speed traffic on the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Seaway shipping now goes through Canada's Welland Canal. There have been frequent delays because of inability of the canal to handle heavy traffic.

Mahoney has not said publicly whether he favors or opposes the canal plan.

A public hearing on the proposal will be held by the Joint Legislative Committee on Commerce and Industry Oct. 5 in Buffalo.

By E. F. HUTTON

GRIST FROM THE OLD MILL
Pounding corn into johnnycake meal in the old-time mortar and pestle was hard, slow work. Same with barley for "coffee," the only kind Grandma ever drank.

But no one in the pioneer village had the wherewithal to build a dam and millrace and buy the equipment for a gristmill.

This village needed to grow bigger and faster. Same as the Dems and GOPs say we do now.

Some miles over the Green Mountains, a miller's son grew six feet tall. He had worked in his father's mill since he was knee-high to a grasshopper.

He had the know-how, and wanted to strike out for himself. Besides, he had a girl he dreamed about as his father's millstones turned round and round, and the sweet smell of fresh corn meal filled the air. He thought of starting a mill in this village.

His Pa was willing to help. But it was a big venture. It could not pay unless the village grew. They just couldn't figure paying taxes—at least, for some years.

Well, the village had a town meeting and voted to exempt a new mill from taxes for five years.

That did it. This true-story village got a mill; the boy got his girl; and from then on, population began to pop.

Moral: Taxes enter into every business decision. Ease the tax burden and watch business grow! Messrs. Kennedy and Nixon, please copy.

Nixon's Trimmings Add Fire to U. S. Campaign

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The presidential campaign is getting a little warm. It's still far from being hot, even though Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy are racing around with extraordinary vigor.

Bit by bit, but still on a rather lofty plane, the two men have been adding a few trimmings as they go along to the themes they have been hitting pretty much from the beginning.

It's the Nixon trimmings which this week added a little fire to their argument.

Flashing Style

The Washington Star said he was using a "flashing style reminiscent of his hard-hitting campaign of the past." The New York Times said he had "quickened his tempo" in a way "reminiscent of his previous controversial Nixon campaigns."

The two men's themes have gone like this:

Kennedy—While criticizing the Eisenhower administration's handling of foreign affairs, he says both national defense and the American economy have to be stepped up to keep pace with Russia.

Nixon—Defending the handling of foreign policy, Nixon insists both defense and the economy are doing fine but promises to improve on both.

That kind of similarity doesn't make for excitement. But Nixon has made the campaign a little rougher by throwing in some extras which are derogatory to Kennedy.

Hits Foe Over Regret

For instance: Last May, when Premier Nikita Khrushchev blew up the summit meeting after Russia had downed the American U2

This would have all but gagged

spy plane, Kennedy suggested the summit might have been salvaged if President Eisenhower had expressed regret over the spy flight.

Nixon from the campaign's beginning has been trying to wrap that statement around Kennedy's neck while at the same time trying to get across the idea Kennedy is too inexperienced for the presidency.

This week he began throwing the word "naive" at his rival, saying it was naive to think Eisenhower could have saved the summit meeting by voicing regret over the U2.

Further, this week Nixon said Kennedy has been obsessed with finding weaknesses in America (pretty much the same thing he's been saying, but stronger), has given the impression this country is "one vast depressed area," and is talking a "do-it-with-mirrors" philosophy of economic growth.

Has Second Thoughts

At one point he accused Kennedy of belittling America, saying he was making himself a spokesman for "national self-disparagement."

But Nixon also seemed to be having second thoughts on some things he said. In referring to Kennedy's statement about regret over the U2, the vice president had said: "When you are dealing with a dictator you must never make concessions without getting something in return because that is not the road to peace; it is the road to surrender or to war."

But when newsmen asked Nixon late: if he meant to say Kennedy was espousing a surrender policy toward Russia, the vice president said: "Absolutely not. Mr. Kennedy didn't know what he was espousing."

Early this week Nixon proposed that while Khrushchev is at the United Nations in New York there should be a moratorium on "all talk about the United States being weak."

This would have all but gagged

Union Official's View On Congressional Action

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—The federal government should take steps to insure that all unions admit to membership interested Negroes, a union official says.

"Congress seeks to regulate internal affairs of unions," Thomas E. Harris, associate general counsel of the AFL-CIO, said Thursday. "It should also see that all applicants are admitted to unions."

Harris spoke at a meeting of officials of five railroad unions.

He did not mention Negroes in his speech, but told a reporter later that he particularly referred to Negroes.

About 100 officials attended the four-day meeting, which ended today.

WHO'S IMPERIALISTIC?

Colonialism is understandably a nasty word among hundreds of millions of people in Asia and Africa. The Kremlin propagandists are diligent to make the most of this, since anti-colonial feeling is a source of great embarrassment to Western nations which are or have been colonial powers.

The West has at its command, but makes relatively little use of, a most persuasive counter-argument to the Soviet charges of Western imperialism. This is that the Western colonial powers have for some years been helping their former colonies to become sovereign nations, whereas the Soviet Union has during the same period vastly expanded its empire of subject peoples.

Consider the record. Nation after nation in Asia and Africa has been released from the yoke of colonialism since World War II. But what is the situation in Europe? There the Soviet Union holds satellite nations in thrall and has entirely absorbed others which once knew freedom — the Baltic states of Estonia, Lithuania and Latvia, the Ukrainians, the Georgians, the Armenians and so on.

The record is useful to the West and to the cause of truth, however, only insofar as it is effectively brought to world attention. That is where the West has fallen down. The free world has the best possible argument against Red charges of imperialism, but the argument has not been put to the best possible use.

It is hard to understand why the West—and especially the United States, which is most unjustly tarred with the colonialism brush—has not made better use of this point. The Soviet Union is the one giant imperialistic power remaining on the face of the earth; it cannot by any twisting of the facts be made to seem any enemy of imperialism. This truth should be spoken clearly, insistently, loudly.

CONCESSION TO PANAMA

A generation ago, few would have supposed that United States sovereignty over the Panama Canal Zone would ever be seriously challenged. But last year's riots in Panama indicated that winds of change are blowing there, too. Unofficial Panamanian groups have been demanding a share in the control and profits of the canal.

While these demands are inopportune and have been fostered, if not inspired, by the Communists, they have not been ignored in Washington. This fact is self-evident now that President Eisenhower has ordered the flag of Panama flown co-equally with the Stars and Stripes at one location in the Canal Zone.

This action of the President, though already target for criticism by some members of both parties in the Congress, was not taken hastily. The administration has been under heavy pressure all over Latin America to ease strained relations between the two continents arising chiefly from vast differences in the economic well-being of North and South America. Panamanian sensitivity over U.S. control of the Canal has not lacked the sympathy of other Latin American governments. Nor has Egypt's assertion of sovereignty over the Suez Canal gone unnoticed.

It is hard to imagine relations between the United States and Panama deteriorating to the point reached in Suez in 1956. On the contrary, President Eisenhower's action should demonstrate to our Latin American friends our desire to meet them at least half way in these touchy matters of national pride.

BASIC IMPROVEMENT

The Chicago Transit Authority explains why it has specified an extra inch of seat room in new buses on order:

"Americans, not only in Chicago, are getting larger all over, not only where they sit down."

CTA means no affront to its riders' sensibilities, it says. It is merely keeping up with the trend.

These Days'

By GEORGE B. SOKOLSKY
THE CAMPAIGN IV

The religious issue in the campaign has both parties worried and they would like to put an end to it. The Democrats fear its consequences. So do the Republicans. Politically, it is one of those issues which proves no point but leaves a great deal of bitterness in its wake.

The Republican position is that John Kennedy is not too popular among Roman Catholics but that the religious issue may force them all to vote for him. The Democrats fear the vice versa of this, namely, that as the campaign advances, Protestants who might have voted for Kennedy, will not.

However, there are important elements in the population who will not be silenced. It can be said, for instance, for Daniel Poling that he is a man of sincerity and decency. His son was one of the Four Chaplains who went down to a watery grave arm-in-arm. One of those chaplains was a Catholic; another, a Jew.

Men like this do not attack the Papacy out of bigotry; they are convinced that the fears of the 16th century must continue. These are the psychological facts which require understanding. John Kennedy's approach to the problem has been politically sound, if ecclesiastically uncertain. He courageously attended a Protestant conference in Houston and told the ministers just what he thought of the religious issue and what his attitude toward his own church would be were he elected President. They cheered him; but did they cheer his courage, his frankness or his rejection of ecclesiastical control even in matters of faith and morals should he be elected President?

Richard Nixon must do better than he has done so far if he is to keep his lead. In the first place, old-line Republicans do not understand why he needs all the committees that are announced as supporting and advising him. Many of the names are not a little startling to Republicans. If Nixon follows the Willkie pattern of bringing a melange of queer people into the Republican Party, some of his most ardent supporters will move out as they moved away from Wendell Willkie.

Secondly, he has thus far gone out of his way to extol the Eisenhower Administration. But the fact is that some phases of the actions of the Eisenhower Administration are not altogether definitive. What about Cuba? What about the testimony of Ambassadors Gardner and Smith? What about inflation? What about the losses to the gold reserve?

Nixon, in his interview with Walter Cronkite, said something about having learned his politics from Eisenhower. This is corny. Nixon in knee pants was more able politician than Eisenhower, who managed largely on his personality and his build-up as a war hero. Surely, Nixon has not forgotten that when Harold Stassen organized a campaign to dump Nixon as Vice President, Harold had White House support, and that the President was slow in dumping Stassen whom he regarded as a great liberal mind. And Nixon cannot forget that his principal political enemy was Sherman Adams who used White House influence to prevent the Vice President from performing when the President was incapacitated. The conduct of both Sherman Adams and James Hagerty still requires explanation for the historical record.

The talk about the changed Richard Nixon is nonsense. Nixon may have matured; he may have grown; he may have had more experience. But what is meant by changing? The whole thing sounds like Moral Re-Armament going into politics.

Until the candidates get down to issues and cut out the badinage, they cannot be taken very seriously. Thus far, neither has dealt with a public question of major magnitude and time is a-wasting. What are they waiting for? Have they an agreement to mark time and talk nonsense until a certain date? If so, why not start the campaign on that date?

Public apathy toward this campaign increases as the candidates continue to be so polite that one would image that they were at a tea party instead of a political debate. It sounds like a Dewey campaign. Richard Nixon is a fierce fighter who goes after an opponent with all the means at his command. He is not a soft man. The same is true of John Kennedy. They are both acting as though some old lady told them to behave themselves. Swing, boys, swing!

Medical Inquiry Scores

Needless Appendectomies

BY HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Once again, an honest and courageous surgeon has taken what the diplomats call a "long, hard look" at the problem of appendicitis. And once again, the warning has been sounded that altogether too many operations are being performed for needless removal of that wholly useless structure, the appendix.

In a recent number of the Wisconsin Medical Journal, Dr. Harvey R. Sharpe Jr. reports on the findings of a committee set up to look into the appendectomies performed at a general hospital in his native Fond du Lac. Here is a brief summary of some of the findings, many of which you might bear in mind before submitting to operation on the basis of a single opinion:

In the year before formation of the investigating committee, a total of 178 patients were operated on. Three years after formation of the committee, the number fell to 79—a drop of 56 per cent.

Of 127 appendices removed from the first group of 178 patients, at least 46 showed no signs of inflammation. Thus, in more than one-third, the appendix was not the cause of whatever distress led to the recommendation of surgery. By contrast, of 62 appendices removed after the formation of the committee, the diagnosis of no inflammation fell to less than one in six. Thus, the per cent of needless removals was about halved (from 33 to 16 per cent).

With reference to so-called chronic appendicitis, the first series included 51 specimens of which 43 (84 per cent) were classified as non-inflammatory. Following formation of the committee, the number of patients operated on for chronic appendicitis fell to 15 and of these 14 (93 per cent) were reported noninflammatory. In other words, while the number of patients operated on for chronic appendicitis fell more than two-thirds, the per cent of needlessly removed organs remained unconsciously high.

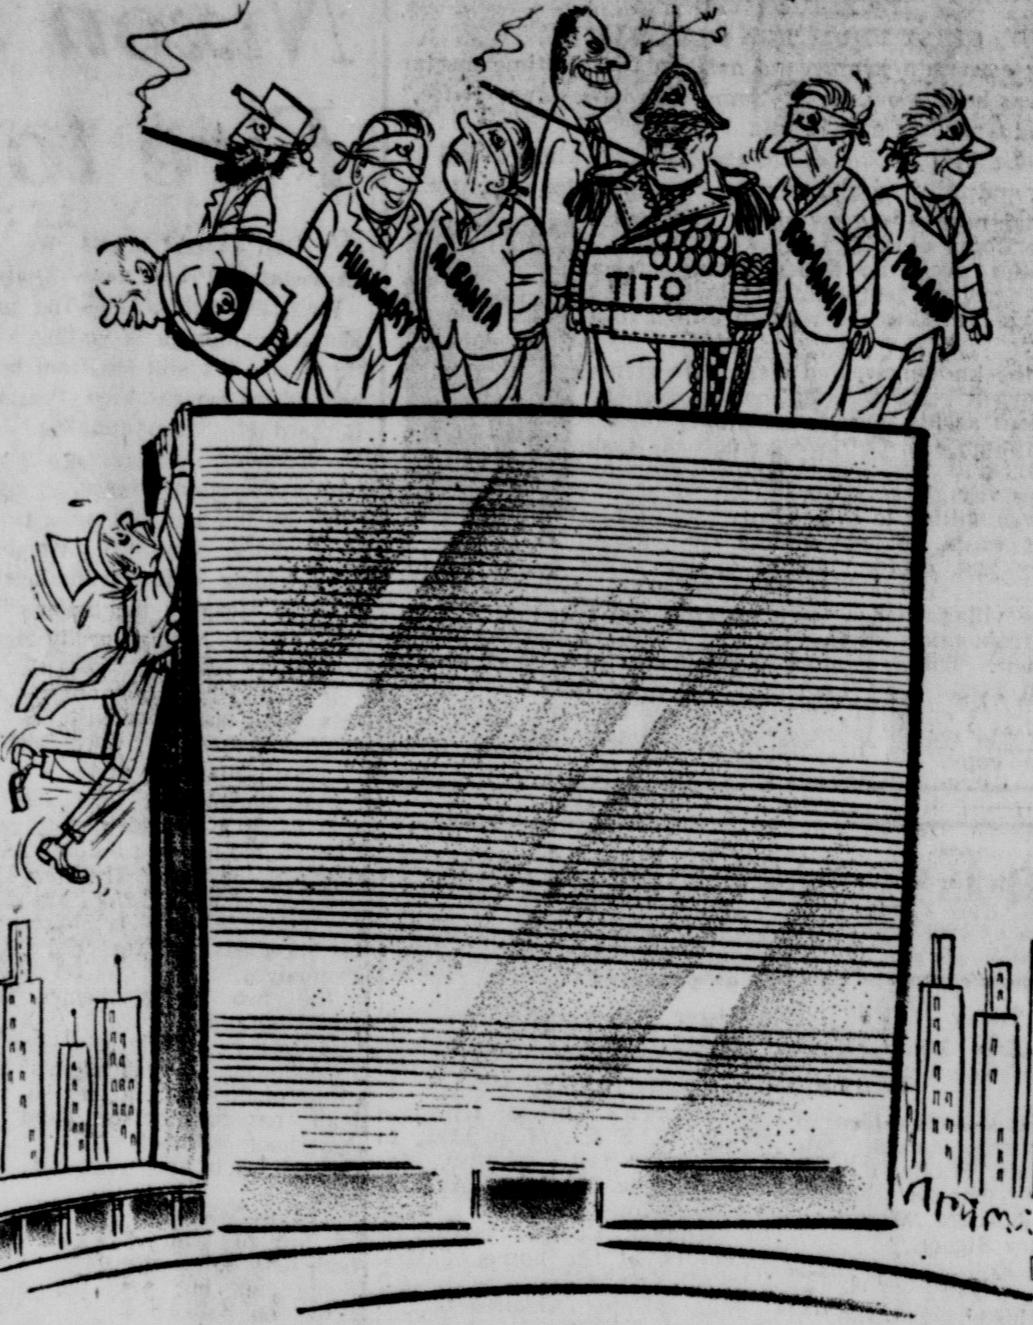

Referring to these last experiences, Dr. Sharpe concluded that "chronic appendicitis is not a surgical disease."

Finally, in anticipation of cries of anguish from colleagues less self-critical than himself, Dr. Sharpe points out that increasing caution on the part of surgeons and referring physicians, due to the known interest of the committee in needless operations, produced no increase in complications or deaths due to perforation of an inflamed appendix.

In exposing himself to the criticism of colleagues, Dr. Sharpe has again given substance to Luke's opinion that "The most high cometh healing." And, if you are wise, you'll take to heart the lessons he has taught all of us.

Washington News

WASHINGTON, (NEA) —

Khrushchev's performance before the United Nations in New York may be just what's needed to bring the American presidential campaign to life.

Many political observers in Washington now admit that they are already bored by the campaign though it still has seven weeks to run. All the arguments on both sides have been heard.

True, the candidates are still dashing madly about the countryside. A lot of hard-working people here in Washington are making schedules, grinding out speeches which say nothing new, making statements which refute each other's alleged lies. Nobody cares.

Until the candidates get down to issues and cut out the badinage, they cannot be taken very seriously. Thus far, neither has dealt with a public question of major magnitude and time is a-wasting. What are they waiting for? Have they an agreement to mark time and talk nonsense until a certain date? If so, why not start the campaign on that date?

On the day the UN session opens, Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy will be making his first nationwide telecast on "The Real Issues of the 1960 Campaign" from a $100-a-plate dinner in Washington. Republican candidate Richard M. Nixon will be touring the automobile centers of Michigan that day.

On the day President Eisenhower speaks at the UN, Kennedy will be at the national plowing contest in South Dakota, and in Iowa and Montana. Nixon will be in Missouri and Illinois.

NEXT DAY, WHEN KHRUSHCHEV is scheduled to speak at the UN, Kennedy will be in Casper, Wyo., Denver and Salt Lake City. Nixon will be in Illinois in the morning, at the South Dakota plowing contest in the afternoon, in Kansas City that night.

On Saturday, Nixon will be in Louisiana and Mississippi while Kennedy is in Chicago and Cleveland.

Monday night, Sept. 26, comes the first big nationwide, TV debate between Nixon and Kennedy in Chicago. For that brief hour in the evening, they may hold the national spotlight.

If, in the meantime, Eisenhower, Khrushchev and other world leaders at the UN have furnished an issue, the would-power. The candidates draw crowds of curious. They look, listen and go away unconvinced. Never was there such a slow start.

There is every indication that the news out of the United Nations during the last 10 days of September will knock U.S. political news right off the TV screens, off the air and into the back pages of the newspapers.

From the schedule, here's the picture:

On the day the UN session opens, Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy will be making his first nationwide telecast on "The Real Issues of the 1960 Campaign" from a $100-a-plate dinner in Washington. Republican candidate Richard M. be world leaders now running for the U. S. presidency will have something big to talk about.

THIS MAY BE THE TURN OF THE TIDE

the spark that ignites the political fires, the starting gun of the real campaign, or whatever political metaphor you want to mix.

It is a tricky political situation. It makes foreign policy the number one issue. And it gives the Republicans the chance to contribute to world unrest and, indeed, to incite the crises that from time to time so disturb all men.

In his campaign so far, Kennedy has criticized the Eisenhower administration for allowing the United States to become second best in world leadership, national defense and growth. This has not been a position with great popular appeal.

Vice President Nixon — ably defended by Henry Cabot Lodge — has defended the Eisenhower record of world leadership, maintained that the United States is second to none, promised a continuation of both conditions if elected in November.

If, in the United Nations, Khrushchev and his Communist cohorts unleash another attack on President Eisenhower in particular and the United States foreign and military policies in general, it could incite widespread American resentment.

And this might furnish the first big break of the campaign.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I have often wondered what befell a gangling American soldier in a campaign hat who was singled out for shocking humiliation by John J. Pershing, whose centenary recently was celebrated with awe by a nation which never really knew him and by General Eisenhower, who knew him only as a monumental disaster.

This scene occurred about 35 miles from any front, in the Gondrecourt training area. By contrast, when he cuffed a soldier in Sicily, Pershing lacked the excuse of tension and excitement. This young victim was an infantry soldier of the first division, between 18 and 20, who obviously had not been in the army long enough to learn the position of "attention." He must have been a volunteer because at that time, about August, 1917, there were no drafted men in France. A boy so ignorant of military customs must have rushed to the recruiting station to offer his life to his country.

On this day, headquarters at Chaumont notified press at Neufchateau that Pershing was motorizing over to inspect the first division. The correspondents fell in around Ligny and took his dust in a wild drive until he pulled up at a field where an infantry company was at lunch. The captain, a soldier with the gray hair common to regular army captains of those days, passed the word to the lieutenants and non-coms.

They all fell in with a clumsy scramble and Pershing started down the front rank. I remember clearly that he insulted the captain before his company by ignoring him and addressing himself to a sergeant.

Suddenly, "sergeant," he belled, "put your finger in that man's mouth and get that chewing gum out of there. Pull that weed out of his hat cord." The weed was a wildflower. You would have thought this young American patriot was in animal.

The sergeant obeyed.

Pershing then yelled "take that man out of there, face him about before the company and show him the true soldierly position of attention." This being done, the Great Man bawled, "keep him at attention for ten minutes."

Then, for the first time he recognized the captain, ordering him to form up the company at "attention" and to take the same position himself for ten minutes.

When Pershing roared away we had to fly to keep up so I never learned the name of the

Ulster Hose Will Burn Firehouse Mortgage on 24th

Ulster Hose Company No. 5, Albany Avenue Extension, Town of Ulster, will hold one of the biggest celebrations in its 16 years of operation on Saturday, Sept. 24. It will mark the burning of the mortgage on the firehouse.

An open house for residents of the Fire District and Protective District will be held at the firehouse starting at 5 p.m. when the doors will be open to the public. At that time the company members invite the guests to inspect the firehouse and the modern equipment.

Interesting Program

Chief Harry Lowe, chairman of the committee, and his committee have prepared an interesting program for the event.

Fire commissioners of the district issue an invitation to residents of the area to inspect the building which is owned by the members of the fire company and also the equipment which is owned by the taxpayers of the Fire District.

Ulster Hose Company No. 5 is unique in that the firehouse is owned and maintained by the firemen themselves.

Housed in the firehouse is some of the most modern of firefighting equipment maintained for protection of life and property in the area covered by the fire company. Members of the fire company take deep pride in their building and in maintaining the equipment entrusted to them.

At 6 p.m. a program will get underway with prominent citizens and officials taking part. There will be short talks and at 6:30 o'clock the mortgage will be burned with appropriate ceremonies.

Dancing 7 to 11

Dancing will be on the program from 7 o'clock until 11 p.m. with refreshments being served by the committee.

Paul Werner, chairman of the Board of Fire Commissioners speaking for the board, paid tribute to the firemen for the fine manner in which the building and equipment is maintained and kept ready in case of emergency.

Chief Lowe is looking forward to a large attendance and extends a special invitation to the original members of the company to come and inspect the progress which the company has made since it was formed 16 years ago.

Members of the committee are Chief Harry Lowe, chairman, Paul Werner, President Robert Metchner, William Harbig, Nick Valenzano, Richard Lowe and Joseph Senior.

Will Hold Exams For Trooper Jobs On November 19

Young men between the ages of 21 and 29 interested in taking state police candidate examinations are invited to apply to the Superintendent of State Police, Albany, N.Y.

The examinations will be held in various locations throughout the state, including Binghamton, Elmira, Kingston, Liberty and Oneonta, on Nov. 19.

Bulletins will be posted at post offices and other public locations listing qualifications, it is reported.

Information may be obtained by writing to the Division of State Police, Albany.

Danbury Fair Opens On Saturday, Oct. 1

A five-acre reproduction of a Dutch Village will be the newest attraction of the 91st Danbury Fair which opens Saturday, Oct. 1. The fair continues to Sunday, Oct. 9.

Attractions will include four days of Jack Koshman's auto thrill show and five days of Ward Beam's White Horse Troop with all-age bare-back riders. A parade is scheduled.

The great-grandfather of the child is Anthony Barca and the great-grandmother is Mrs. Anna Sawyer, both of Brooklyn.

Home Relief Projects Aid Communities

Home relief recipients on local work relief projects are performing a variety of tasks of value to their home communities, and in many cases have turned their work relief assignments into stepping stones to private employment, the State Department of Social Welfare reported today.

Sponsoring units include the City of Poughkeepsie where 28 persons are employed on the projects. In Columbia county eight persons are employed on similar projects, and in the City of Newburgh one person is employed.

As of July 1, approximately 1,176 home relief recipients were employed in more than 50 work relief projects located in 15 counties. Most of the work involved maintenance of public buildings, parks and roads.

Under the work relief program, employable persons receiving home relief can be required to perform work assigned to them by the public welfare official furnishing home relief.

The official assigns persons who are able to perform the work indicated, provided they will not displace regular employees performing established duties of the unit of government to which they are assigned.

Will Hold Tests To Find Safest Driver in Nation

CHICAGO (AP)—What makes a safe driver safe?

Science will begin a series of tests tonight designed to answer that question.

Six men have been chosen as subjects. They were selected, by a detailed questionnaire, from among 5,000 professional drivers who won safe-driving awards from the National Safety Council.

During the weekend they will undergo medical probings and driving performance tests and take examinations based on psychology and knowledge.

The two men with the top scores Sunday night will go west for a 1,500 mile test drive Oct. 7, 8, and 9 from Fraser, Colo., to Furnace Creek, Calif.

The one who scores best then will be dubbed the nation's outstanding safe driver.

The competition in Chicago and in the Far West, plus checkups on other award winners, will enable researchers to ascertain the characteristics of a safe driver.

The wheelman chosen for the Chicago tests, the sponsor said, average 30 years of professional driving without mishap or parking ticket. They are:

Arthur Brown, Columbia Station, Ohio, and Charles J. Espich, Denver, Colo., who drive trailer trucks; Clint Hennig, Whitewright, Tex., and Alex Kellen, Montevideo, Minn., who drive passenger cars; and Jeff Vance, Lexington, Ky., and Alton Van Velde, Geneva, N.Y., who drive panel trucks.

The project is sponsored by E.I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., with the cooperation of Columbia University, the National Safety Council, Remington Rand and Dodge Division of Chrysler Corp.

The research is directed by Dr. James L. Maloff, head of Columbia University's safety research program.

Barclay Heights

By CAROLYN C. FRANCE

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Veltre of Barclay Lane announced the birth of a son, Joseph Anthony, early today at Kingston Hospital. They also have a daughter, Janice, one-year-old.

Mrs. Veltre is the former Janet Barca, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barca of Route 9W, Barclay Heights. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Veltre of Glasco.

The great-grandfather of the child is Anthony Barca, the Republican.

Byrnes, 81, former secretary of state, accused Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, of giving ammunition to the Soviets in campaign statements.

Byrnes for Nixon

COLUMBIA S.C. (AP)—James F. Byrnes, who helped shape U.S. foreign policy under two Democratic presidents, criticized the Democratic platform and the party's nominee Thursday. He announced his support of Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge, the Republicans.

Byrnes, 81, former secretary of state, accused Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, of giving ammunition to the Soviets in campaign statements.

Agree on Border Dispute

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Communist China and Nepal have reached a "satisfactory agreement in principle" on border disputes, Nepal's foreign office announced Thursday night.

The announcement followed seven meetings of the joint boundary committee of the two countries.

Summer's High 89.2

NEW YORK (AP)—A record was set Thursday when summer ended without one 90-degree temperature reading here for the first time since the Weather Bureau began keeping statistics in 1871.

The high for the summer was 89.2 degrees on Aug. 28.

Breaks All Bad

YORK, Pa. (AP)—Last year Dr. Walter F. Loeb, 28, a Stewarton, Pa., veterinarian, suffered a broken right leg in an auto accident. In February this year some cattle crowded him into a fence, breaking his left leg. Thursday both his legs were broken in an auto accident.

The movie is sponsored by E.I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., with the cooperation of Columbia University, the National Safety Council, Remington Rand and Dodge Division of Chrysler Corp.

The research is directed by Dr. James L. Maloff, head of Columbia University's safety research program.

1957 Charge Dismissed

A charge of leaving the scene of an accident against Arthur A. Smith, 22, of Route 4, Kingston, was dismissed by Special City Judge Arthur B. Ewig today on motion of the defendant's counsel, John E. Gotelli and with Consent of Assistant District Attorney Francis J. Vogt. The charge dated back to 1957. Smith was recently discharged from military service. It was charged that a truck driven by Smith had struck a sedan on Prince Street in January of 1957, and that he had left the scene of the mishap. Hearing on a reckless driving charge against the defendant was put over to Sept. 29. LeRoy Hamilton, 44, of 101 Abeel' Street, charged with speeding, was fined $10.

Khrush Says Ike Risks W.W. 3

The main clearing house for disposal of perilous issues.

These proposals were circulated in advance of the Soviet premier's anxiously awaited appearance on the Assembly rostrum, a day after President Eisenhower's challenging address to the Soviets to use the United Nations as the main clearing house for disposal of perilous issues.

Ready to Negotiate

The proposals were in the form of separate statements — called declarations of the Soviet government — on disarmament and colonialism. The Khrushchev proposal on disarmament pictured the Soviet Union as favoring strict international controls, but these were not spelled out. The declaration stated the U.S.S.R. "is ready for new negotiations."

The Soviets put forward this proposal:

1. In the first 18 months the powers would stop producing means of delivering nuclear weapons on targets. They would destroy stockpiles, dismantle foreign bases, withdraw foreign troops, cut armed forces to 1,700,000 each for the U.S.S.R. and the United States, reduce conventional arms accordingly with control from "beginning to end."

2. The powers would ban weapons of mass destruction.

3. The powers would abolish armed forces and armaments, keeping only limited police and militia contingents from which the United Nations might draw to preserve world security.

The issue of elimination of bases has been one upon which negotiations have founders. The West insists bases must be maintained until strict international controls are in effect.

Deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Dr. Wesley R. Coe, 93, professor emeritus of biology at Yale University, died Wednesday. He retired from Yale in 1937.

NEW YORK (AP)—William R. Steinway, 78, board chairman of Steinway & Sons, piano makers, died Thursday.

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Hugh Porter, 63, director of the school of sacred music at Union Theological Seminary, died Thursday of a heart attack.

Nkrumah Raps French

The Khrushchev statement came only minutes after a leading African figure, President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana, had denounced the French on charges of colonialism in North Africa and demanded that the United Nations turn over its functions in the Congo to the independent African states.

Nkrumah also supported the Soviet bid to seat Red China in the United Nations.

The African leader received a 38-second ovation at the end of his speech.

Khrushchev's proposal on colonial and newly independent countries included a statement that the U.N. intervention in the Congo had aggravated the international situation and endangered peace in Africa and the world. He then presented his plan:

Hobbies Helpful Violin-Maker Is Kiwanis Speaker, Tells About Art

Violin making, dating back to the 16th century in Italy, was the subject of a talk presented before the Kingston Kiwanis Club Thursday by William F. Oskay of 69 Marius Street, teacher in the Industrial Arts department of Kingston High School.

Touching upon the "boredom of old people" and their apparent idea that their "usefulness in the world is gone," the speaker suggested that all people spend some time in their younger years trying to discover and develop a talent that could become a hobby and a source of possible income when they retire from active business. He pointed to the recent publicity surrounding the 100th birthday of the celebrated Grandma Moses as an illustration of his contention.

The hobby of William F. Oskay is the making of violins. He revealed that there are 79 pieces of wood utilized in the construction of a violin, and he emphasized that the wood itself and the workmanship, work together to result in an instrument that has the proper tone and the necessary playing ability.

According to the speaker, the materials used to make a violin weigh about 10 pounds, but the finished product tips the scales at one pound. He revealed that wood cut high in the Catskills seems to have a "certain quality" necessary in violin making — "it embodies unusual tone quality." Curly maple is one wood that Mr. Oskay uses, with spruce employed for the top of the instrument.

Assistant Chief Arthur Mantone and Sgt. Leo Gordon headed the investigation, it was reported.

Pinkerus was arraigned in Ellenville village court on a charge of burglary third degree involving the alleged theft of whiskey and a golf bag from the club on the night of December 21, 1958, and committed to the Ulster County jail to await trial.

Pinkerus reportedly has admitted to village police that he broke into the club by climbing over a roof and entering through a second-floor window.

He stole 14 bottles of whiskey which he carted away in an empty golf bag that he picked up in the club, village police told the Freeman. The loss was estimated by club officials at the night of $150.

However, the club suffered a worse loss when Pinkerus, in making his departure, left the door of the clubhouse open and pipes froze and burst. This damage was estimated to have cost the club about $800.

Earlier this week Pinkerus was picked up for questioning by village police in connection with another incident, described as of minor consequence.

During interrogation he reportedly admitted the theft at the club.

Assistant Chief Arthur Mantone and Sgt. Leo Gordon headed the investigation, it was reported.

Corey Called Critical

The condition of Walter Corey, 82, of 21 Staples Street, who was injured in a Central Broadway traffic mishap Thursday morning, was reported as "critical" at Kingston Hospital today. Police said he had walked from near the front of a parked car into the path of a car driven by Selma Anne Mix, 35, of RD 1, Little Genesee, N.Y. He suffered leg, hip and head injuries and police were notified later yesterday that he had suffered a skull fracture.

CH Dividend Higher

The board of directors of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation, at its monthly meeting held at its South Road office, Poughkeepsie, today declared a dividend of 25 cents per share on its common stock, payable November 1 to holders of record October 10. The dividend declared today is two cents higher than the last quarterly dividend declared on the company's common stock.

The ovation was the greatest given him during his two-day visit during which he addressed the U.N. General Assembly Thursday with a call to settle world problems through the United Nations.

The President, smiling broadly and looking fit despite a strenuous round of activities, stood and waved from his open car as it set out along 50th St. for Idlewild Airport.

The high for the summer was 89.2 degrees on Aug. 28.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Some items from the "Ulster Republican" printed in Kingston in August 1851, some 109 years ago. One item reads: "For sale, the large Stone House, fronting on St. James Street, in the village of Kingston (now occupied as a female seminary), with about two acres of land in the rear. This property is a very desirable residence, as it fronts on the street, and the rear opens in the country; there is a never failing spring on the property, the water of which is brought into the basement. The house is in good repair. Enquiry of the subscriber, at the adjoining house," signed "Tobias Van Buren, Kingston, August 5, 1851."

"Building lots for sale. Situated about midway between the village of Kingston and Rondout, on the northerly side of the Public Road leading to and from said villages. Possession on the sale of said lots, given to the purchaser next fall, when the streets will be opened according to a map of the lots, which may be seen at my office in Kingston. Terms reasonable, one quarter of the purchase money to be paid, the residue secured by a bond and mortgage on said premises. Dated August 12, 1851. Jon. D. Ostrander."

"Flour. We sell our flour by the barrel or otherwise as low as it can be bought at Rondout. E. DuBois & Co."

I wonder if anyone has a map of Kingston Village, which might have been drawn up by Henry Winfield, civil engineer around Aug. 20, 1851. It would take in every street and avenue. He was working on such a map at the time and if he had enough subscribers he was going to have it printed.

Here is an interesting advertisement in the 1851 local paper: "Lackawanna Coal. I will deliver coal in the village of Kingston, from the dock, at four dollars and fifty cents per ton. Kingston, Sept. 1, 1851. J. P. Osterhout."

Another advertisement along the same line: "Lump, grate and stove size coal will be delivered in the village of Kingston by us at $4.50 per ton, direct from dock. Jas. W. Baldwin & Co."

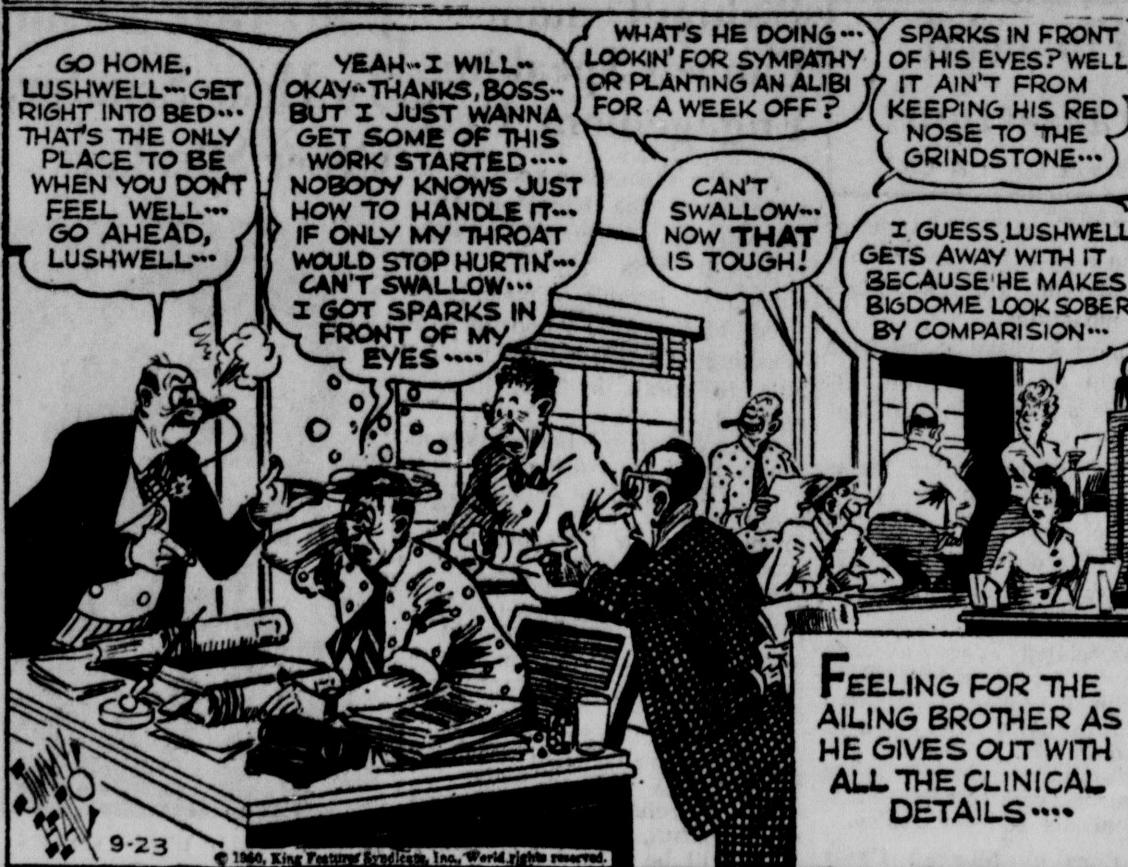

Another item reads: "The annual fair and meeting of the Ulster County Agricultural Society, will be held in the village of Kingston, Wednesday and Thursday, the first and second of October next. Dated Kingston, Sept. 9, 1851. Peter H. Brink, president. P. Crispell Jr., secretary."

This 1851 local paper also mentions "New ice cream saloon, corner of Abeel and Division Streets, Rondout. In consequence of the increase of business and for the convenience and accommodation of customers, will remove a part of my business from my variety store, on the corner of Canal and Lackawanna Streets, to Abeel and Division Streets, (corner Broadway and Abeel Streets) where the public can be supplied with ice cream, of the best quality at all hours. Rondout, June 24, 1851. A. Winter."

Dolly Madison, to whom is given credit of discovering the making of ice cream was born in 1772 and died in 1849 so it shows that Kingston was a modern village at the time when it came to delicacies like ice cream. Kingston being the inbetween port between Albany, the capital, and New York, the port of the world, and on the Hudson River, one can see by the advertisements it had many up-to-date establishments.

Saugerties Man's Car In Mishap With Truck

The car of a Town of Saugerties resident became involved in a minor traffic mishap Thursday afternoon with one of the trucks working on the resurfacing of Route 9W near Glenker, Kingston State Police reported.

Ward Washburn, 73, of Flatbush, driving his 1950 sedan on Route 9W was in collision with a 1958 truck making a U turn on the highway, according to Trooper William Cameron.

Trooper Cameron said Irving Avwater, 37, of Caroga Lake, Fulton County, was the driver of the truck. No injuries were reported, police said.

Forest fires annually destroy enough saw log size timber to build 86,000 five-room houses.

Worked for Fong in Hawaii GOP Will Try Vote Solicitation Plan

Nixon Has Plans Leading to Fewer Farming Controls

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
EN ROUTE WITH NIXON (AP)
— Vice President Richard M. Nixon completed the draft today of a program designed to woo the votes of farmers in the Midwest political battleground.

He said in advance his program, to be presented at the National Plowing Contest at Sioux Falls, S. D. is designed to lead to "less government controls rather than none."

That was at the airport at Decatur, Ill., where he stopped during a day of campaigning Thursday in Illinois, climaxed by a big rally at Rockford Thursday night.

The Republican presidential nominee faces at Sioux Falls the same audience before which his Democratic rival, Sen. John F. Kennedy outlined his own six-point program based on securing what Kennedy called full parity for the farmers.

Nixon told his Decatur audience he is opposed to fastening government controls over the farmers "forever and forever," and that his proposals are aimed at giving to them their "fair share" of the country's general prosperity.

He leaves Rockford by motorcycle at 9 a.m. for a speech at Beloit, Wis., dedicating a boy's club before flying to Sioux Falls.

He plans to wind up the day's campaigning with a speech tonight at a Republican rally in the Municipal Auditorium at Kansas City, Kan., where he will remain overnight.

Sheriff Iver Johnson estimated that there were more than 5,000 persons in the crowd that gave Nixon and his wife, Pat, a screaming ovation in the National Guard Armory at Rockford.

Nixon told them that United States economic policies under President Eisenhower have "paid off" while those advocated by Kennedy were "left behind in 1953."

Financial Transactions (Morgan Davis & Co.)

NEW YORK (AP)—Gold shares spurted in a generally lower stock market early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

While most key stocks fell from fractions to around a point, the gold made advances in a similar range.

The drop in the United States government gold holdings to the lowest level since April 1940—the largest weekly decline in about 29 years—drew speculative interest in gold mining stocks.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon fell .50 to 211.00 with the industrials down .90, the rails down .20 and the utilities down .20.

Aircraft-share stocks were down, along with steels, rails, most chemicals and electronics.

Bishop Oxnam Cancels Speaking Engagement Here

At the executive committee meeting of the Kingston Area Council of Churches Thursday night it was reported that Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, retired Methodist Bishop of the Washington area, would not be able to speak in Kingston as planned.

Bishop Oxnam had accepted the council's invitation to speak at the Reformation Sunday program at the Fair Street Reformed Church Oct. 30, under sponsorship of the council. Bishop Oxnam expressed his regret that, upon the insistence of the Leahy Clinic where he has been undergoing treatment he finds it necessary to cancel all engagements.

The executive committee is presently engaged in securing the services of another prominent churchman to speak on the program, and an announcement will be made soon.

Among other business transacted at the meeting, the president of the council, Herbert Frost, was named by the committee to propose three members of a nominating committee, for presentation before the general assembly at 1 p.m.

The general assembly will meet Wednesday, Oct. 26 at the Fair Street Reformed Church.

The executive committee will meet Thursday, Dec. 1 at the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer. This meeting will replace the November and December meetings formerly held on the fourth Thursday of each month, in order to eliminate conflict with the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays.

Democrats Slate 9-County Parley Here on Sunday

There will be a luncheon meeting Sunday, at 12 noon at the Governor Clinton Hotel for the Democratic county chairmen and Democratic county registration chairmen of nine New York counties in the Kingston area. This is the fifth in a series of regional meetings being called by Thomas H. Brogan of Auburn, state registration chairman.

The purpose of the gathering is to evaluate progress reports and to finalize plans for a crash registration drive.

Representing Ulster County will be William A. Kelly, county chairman, and Francis P. Staubler, registration chairman.

Other Representatives

Representatives from other counties will be:

Greene, county chairman James E. O'Connell Jr.; Columbia, county chairman Charles G. Alone; Orange, county chairman John S. Stillman and registration chairman James B. Freehill; Dutchess, county chairman Joseph F. Hawkins and registration chairman Allen G. Herkimer.

Putnam, county chairman Frank R. Barbita; Westchester, county chairman William F. Luddy and registration chairman John D. Mooney; Rockland, county chairman William A. Zeck and registration chairman Mrs. Constance Voss; Sullivan, county chairman Harry Borden and registration chairman Mr. and Mrs. Jack Weber.

Further meetings are being scheduled in Rochester and the Long Island area within the next week, Brogan said.

Indictment Made Of Cairo Man for Larceny, Burglary

Larry Q. Rice, 21, Cairo, who is wanted throughout the midwest in connection with a crime spree with another area resident, was indicted Thursday by an Albany County grand jury on charges of first degree grand larceny and third degree burglary in connection with thefts from an Altamont recreation center. Albert Dorstek, 25, of Hudson, was indicted on the same counts. He is still being sought along with Alicia Maki, 17, of Albany, who is believed to be with the fugitive.

Troopers allege the two men took a tape recorder, tools and other merchandise from the center where Dorstek had been employed, went on a trip to Ohio where they allegedly held up a supermarket at Dayton.

Rice was picked up by troopers last week shortly after he returned home. The men are wanted for questioning about entrances to other places in the Hudson valley.

SCHROON LAKE, N. Y. (AP) — Bear steaks are on the menu at the Essex County Poorhouse in Willsboro, thanks to a honeymooning couple.

Dr. and Mrs. Bert Berlin, both 29, were enroute to Montreal on a honeymoon trip early today when their automobile struck a 200-pound black bear that darted out of the Adirondack forest onto Route 9.

Game wardens took the carcass to the poorhouse, where all out-of-season game goes.

The Berlins, of New Rochelle, were shaken up and their car was battered, but they were able to continue their trip.

Planning Board, W.A.A. Roles Told to Group by Van Rijn

The difference in basic concepts and philosophy of the Planning Board and the newly-formed Town Planning Board was outlined in a speech delivered by J. C. van Rijn, Wednesday night at the Lake Hill fire house.

van Rijn, who is chairman of the Planning Board and one of the prime movers in the organization of the WAA, made the comparison in addressing the first of a series of Planning Board forums in the township.

Host for the meeting was the Willow, Lake Hill, Shady Taxpayers Association. Also in attendance were members of the Lake Hill Sportsmen Club and the Wil-La-Shay women's club. Six of the seven members of the Planning Board also attended, among them Benjamin L. Webster, Kenneth Downer, Mrs. Carolyn Wilson, Martin F. Comeau, and Dudley Summers. Postmaster Leon Carey, seventh member, is on vacation.

Although the meeting was called ostensibly to deal with progress of the Planning Board, van Rijn digressed to clear up what he described as apparently some misunderstanding and confusion as to the relative roles of the two organizations.

Part of this confusion might be attributed to the fact that three directors of the WAA are also members of the Planning Board — van Rijn, Webster and Mrs. Wilson, he said.

Outlines Policies

The Woodstock Association was organized in February 1959 by a small group of citizens whose conscience was disturbed by things that were happening "which would make us lose things we all cherished and attracted us to Woodstock," van Rijn told the group. He said the WAA was concerned with maintaining the physical aspects of Woodstock.

"The task of the Woodstock Association," van Rijn continued, "is to observe what is going on. We are a fact finding group, per se. We investigate, organize the facts and then present them to the people. One of our objectives is to induce people and organizations to accomplish objectives which our fact finding deem in the best interests of the community. We have no official standing, nor do we have any regulatory power."

"The Planning Board on the other hand," van Rijn continued, "has official status. It is an extension of the Town Board and has limited regulatory power. It was created by the town board and can be dissolved at anytime by the board. The Planning Board serves in a purely advisory capacity, makes studies of the township and recommends appropriate action to the Town Board."

Some of the things with which the Planning Board may concern itself with, said van Rijn, are approval of plans, drawing of a master plan for a township and study of zoning ordinances. On

Viennese Report By Schimmerling

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of articles written by Prof. H. A. Schimmerling of Woodstock, who is on a three months tour of Europe. The first report is from Vienna.)

An enthusiastic outburst of reactions to the one thousand and one impressions received after my arrival in Vienna; a maximum of impressions per minute, a maximum of culture (I say culture, not civilization) per square yard.

Even the food is included in these impressions. We forgot entirely that we are supposed to keep a diet. It seems that a Viennese coffee at Domayer where Johann Strauss made his debut, or at the Probus Kaffee opposite the house where Beethoven wrote his Heiligenstaedter Testament tastes better than anywhere else. The lunch at the "Gruener Anker" where Schubert used to eat with his friends has a special Biedermeier flavor, and a dinner at the "Bosna Beisel" is spiced with some bitter drops in memoriam of Mozart's Requiem. Because this restaurant is just across the street where once the house stood in which Mozart died. The house which now stands at this venerable place is one of the cutest I ever saw. Cherubini, Rossini, Haydn, Schubert and other sculptured composers bend over from the second floor as though they would like to watch what's going on down there in the street.

A Different Flavor

In these surroundings the paprika gulyas has mysterious flavor. Half an hour after I finished my meal in the Bosna, I was back in our country because I sat in the post-war rebuilt State Opera and listened to an excellent performance of Poulenc's "The Sisters of the Carmel Order." A drink in Kaffee Mozart behind the Opera House was the finale of a memorable day. There were at least 30 such memorable days for me during the last 10 days because I live at least three normal days within 24 hours. From the above said you can see that I tried to combine meals with music history.

There was full cooperation wherever I went. The Municipal School Directorium of the City of Vienna arranged appointments for me with the principals and directors of six schools from the elementary level up to the "Academie Gymnasium," the oldest of this type in Vienna. Everywhere I was received like a king. I spent half a day with interviews at the Ministry of Education which in turn introduced me by telephone and made appointments for me with the dean of Vienna University, the director of the Academy of Music and the chief of the Music Department of the National Library.

Discuse Tree, Trust

van Rijn also digressed from planning and the WAA to discuss the newly formed Woodstock Tree Trust. The trust was formed, he said, by several citizens who realized the danger of losing the present tree population in Woodstock. No new trees were being planted to replace those that are destroyed.

Although the Woodstock Association sponsored the formation of the Tree Trust, the latter group is completely divorced from the WAA, van Rijn said.

Work is being done on the legal and financial form which the trust will adopt and a meeting is planned with the Woodstock Garden Club and the long range aims of the trust will be revealed in a few weeks. The trust will be a non-profit, tax free organization.

Aside from a detailed discussion of the master map and its various ramifications, the board chairman did not deal on any specifics involving the Planning Board, pointing out that this was the period of study and evaluation. He said the town board had been kept abreast of the Planning Board's activities through periodic reports that had been submitted to Supervisor Abram F. Molneaux.

Lawrence Casey, president of the Willow, Lake Hill, Shady Taxpayers Association, introduced van Rijn, who presented the other members of the Planning Board. The meeting closed with a question and answer period.

You can also look from the Kahlenberg (mountain) to the Danube bank, from the Haydn Museum to the Old University, from the Klosterneuburg Cathedral and monastery to the Imperial Castle of Schoenbrunn, from places that show traces of the Turkish siege of Vienna in 1683 to the bombed places of the last war; Roman, Greek, early and late Gothic, Barock, Rokoko, Biedermeier and other styles plus architectonic marvels of the last two decades and then time of the first republic stand next to each other, making this City of Dreams a timeless city.

From the Roman Emperor Marcus Aurelius to the Napoleonic age, from the Celtic era to Franz Joseph, from the crusaders and Babenbergers to Metternich; it seems there is a little bit of everything. Not to forget the beautiful vineyards, the Vienna woods, the wine cellars and last, but not least, the Vienna ladies. It is an atmosphere that rejuvenates, that makes youngsters out of grandfathers. My readers will forgive this outburst of hardly digested impressions. I shall try to be more organized and specific in my reports that will follow from time to time. Greetings to all. Lovingly yours, Uncle Hemus.

Many Surprises

I am still dizzy from all these surprises and impressions. Stand in Vienna wherever you want and turn around in a circle, look in 360 directions and your eye will hit 360 interesting items. These items range from a Baroque house to a Maria Theresa Monument, from a Schubert house to a historically interesting Volksgarten; from the Burg Theater to the Michaeler Church; from the Music Manuscript Collections to the Pallavicini Palace, from St. Stephen's Cathedral to the Beethoven Gang, from the Hapsburg Sepulchres to the Clock Museum with respect to the new building program and the Board members who have conducted their own study. A definite program is expected to emerge from Monday's meeting.

Boy Scout Meeting Planned at Deanie's

A meeting to finalize plans for conducting the annual Boy Scout drive in Woodstock will be held at Deanie's Restaurant, Wednesday, Sept. 28, at 8 p. m.

Deanie Elwyn has kindly consented to serve as host at the special meeting to be held in the upstairs room of his restaurant. Representatives of the Rip

Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be on hand to help complete plans for the October drive.

Much progress has already been made this summer in recruiting majors, captains and solicitors, but other volunteers are needed.

In announcing the meeting, Raymond Garraghan, Council finance committee chairman, pointed out that the Boy Scouts of America are celebrating their Golden Anniversary in 1960. "All of us, I am sure," he said, "want to do everything possible to give the boys of Woodstock the benefit of this long established program for youth."

Plans November Wedding; Engaged To Richard Russo

LEILANI ROOSA

Mr. and Mrs. Claude L. Hubbard of Otego, N. Y., announce the engagement of their daughter, Leilani Roosa, to Richard F. Russo of Norwich, son of Mrs. Carmela Russo, Otego, and the late Nunzio Russo.

Miss Roosa is a graduate of Kingston High School, class of 1957, and is employed at New York State Electric & Gas Corporation, Oneonta.

Mr. Russo is a graduate of Norwich High School and plans to continue his studies at Oneonta State Teachers College.

A November wedding is planned.

Area Men Attend Marist College Evening Division

The Evening Division of Marist College has enrolled 110 new students this week, raising its total to 260. In its second year of operation, the Evening Division has attracted men from as far away as Yorktown Heights, Newburgh, New Paltz, Kingston, Saugerties, and Rhinebeck.

A few of last year's students may graduate next June according to Dr. John Schroeder, Dean of the Evening Division of the local college. Quite a number should be able to graduate the year following. The reason is that many of the men attending have had several years of previous college or community college education.

An unusual feature of the present student body is that a considerable number have B.S. degrees from other colleges. However, they have found themselves in jobs demanding training in other fields than that for which they prepared. At Marist College they have the opportunity of transferring many of the general credits of their original training while studying the courses in the field that now offers them promotion in their vocation.

About a dozen students are taking courses solely for cultural improvement, being uninterested in earning a college degree. Their interests range from literature to philosophy.

One of the two sections in Developmental Reading has been opened to juniors and seniors of local high schools. Guidance Counselors of the area secondary schools have been advised of this opportunity of help to young men with reading difficulties. Registration for this course may still be made, for the College feels that this is a public service that has proven value.

Classes in the Evening Division began Monday evening, September 19, in the original classroom buildings. Within the next week or two, however, classes will be moved to the new circular building, according to Dr. Schroeder. There the latest, most modern facilities for learning will be available in a building of such unusual size and shape that it has already become a landmark to aviation passing over Poughkeepsie.

World Issues Main Topic of LWV Visit To Affairs Center

Five members of the League of Women Voters of Kingston attended an institute on World Development and United States Economic Policies Monday, Sept. 19.

Mrs. John Johnson, chairman of the local group's foreign policy study group, and the Mmes. Nelson Heyer, Gifford Beal, William Heyden and Morton Zucker participated in the institute, sponsored by the LWV of New York at the World Affairs Center, United Nations Plaza in New York City.

The day's program included an address by Dr. Richard N. Gardner, author of "New Directions in Foreign Economic Policy." Discussing "Problems in Economics at Home and Abroad," Dr. Gardner talked on the U. S. problem of balancing its imbalance of payments, pointing out that most assets are in long-term investments while the nation's liabilities are for the most part in short-term transactions.

The U. S. can help itself over this period of deficit difficulties, he suggested by encouraging foreigners to leave their dollars in this country, maintaining interest rates to encourage foreign capital to remain in U. S. banks; stimulating export trade and encouraging foreign travel here. He emphasized the importance of convincing other Western nations to take on greater shares of the burden of military expenses and aid to underdeveloped nations.

Mr. Gardner also discussed problems of U. S. trade policies, stating that trade restrictions are self-defeating. "The less imports we accept, the less exports we will have. We must accent change and help industries by instituting a program of temporary government aid to help injured manufacturers, workers and communities to adjust to more efficient patterns of production," the speaker said.

The League members also heard the Hon. Paul Hoffman, director of the United Nations Special Fund and author of the recent book, "One Hundred Countries, One and One Quarter Billion People." He stated his belief that the United Nations offers the world its only hope for peace, stressing that a new age of rising expectations has begun.

Hoffman pointed out that in 100 "poor countries," two billion people must be encouraged to strive for higher living standards. Between 1950 and 1960, the speaker said, these countries showed only a 10 per cent economic growth, while the increase in annual per capita income was dangerously slow.

The world must understand these nations' physical and human resources, Hoffman said, and must attempt to help them through international operations rather than bi-lateral projects. "We must follow the policy of partnership instead of paternalism," Hoffman said. "We are all partners in an expanding world economy."

The speaker stressed the importance of pre-investment activity in the underdeveloped nations, in training assistance programs, research institutes and national resource surveys, to encourage these countries to aid themselves.

Glasco Resident on Tour
Miss Rose Emma Mayone of Glasco sailed recently on the SS United States, accompanied by Miss Sandra Gibson of Chicago, for an extended tour of Europe. Highlighting her trans-Atlantic crossing was her birthday celebration at the Captain's Dinner which featured a birthday cake in her honor.

After a week in England, the Misses Mayone and Gibson will spend some time in Paris, and touring Switzerland and Italy with their visit to Rome made outstanding by an audience with His Holiness, Pope John. Miss Mayone contemplates an extended visit in Spain with approximately three weeks in Barcelona before proceeding by bus to Sevilla, Cadiz, Grenada and Madrid. Prior to departure for the United States in late November, Miss Mayone will spend some time in Madrid and Toledo. After her return to New York on Trans World Airlines, Miss Mayone will visit briefly with her mother, Mrs. Theresa Mayone of Glasco, before returning to Florida for the winter months.

Janet Wyant Weds Stephen J. Sepesy In Double Ring Ceremony at St. Joseph's

On Sunday, Sept. 18 at 2 p. m. at St. Joseph's Church, Miss Janet Katherine Wyant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Wyant, 31 Wilson Avenue, this city, wed Stephen Joseph Sepesy, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Sepesy, 4 Larch Street, this city.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. John Gill, Mrs. Frank Rafferty was organist and Miss Patricia Cardinale sang "Mother Beloved," "Ave Maria," and "Mother At Thy Feet Is Kneeling."

The altar was decorated with white gladioli and mums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of off-white Skinner satin with a fitted bodice, long pointed sleeves, wide heart-shaped neckline and bouffant skirt ending in a chapel length train.

Her headpiece of imported lace and seed pearls held a fingertip veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white gladiolus, stephanotis and ivy.

The bride's cousin, Mrs. Irene O'Dell of Poughkeepsie, served as matron of honor in a gown of emerald green peau de soie.

Sheath style with scoop neckline and mid-length sleeves. Her full overskirt of matching satin was ballerina length and she wore a bandolee of velvet with a side bow.

Her flowers were an arrangement of yellow Fuji mums with croton foliage.

The bridegroom's sister, Miss Mary Sepesy of Kingston, Miss Kirsten Warnes of Boiceville, Mrs. Barbara Pierce of Hurley and Miss Judy Freer of Clinton Corners, served as attendants.

The attendants wore gowns identical to that worn by the honor attendant except in Spanish gold. They carried serpentine bouquets of bronze Fuji mums with croton foliage.

The bride's cousin, Miss Gaye Miller of Poughkeepsie, served as flower girl. She wore an emerald green peau de soie with full ballerina length skirt. Her headpiece was a circle of emer-

Exchanging nuptial vows at St. Peter's Church in Rosendale on Saturday, Sept. 17 at 3 p. m. were Miss Josephine Church, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Church of Bloomington, and Francis R. Freese, son of Charles Freese of New York City.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Vincent DePaul Mulry, pastor.

White gladioli decorated the church for the occasion.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a princess style gown of white silk organza featuring a scoop neckline and Alencon lace, short sleeves and chapel length train. Her fingertip veil of French silk illusion was gathered to a tiara of seed pearls. She carried phalaenopsis orchids with stephanotis.

For her wedding trip to New England and Canada, the bride wore a royal blue and black silk two piece suit with royal blue belt and black accessories.

Claire Canepi of New York City served as maid of honor in

Mr. and Mrs. Freese will reside in New York City.

ACQUAINTANCE ASKS TO BORROW WEDDING DRESS

Dear Mrs. Post: I am at present confronted with a most embarrassing situation on which I would like your help. A neighbor (not a close friend—merely an acquaintance of many years) asked me in the presence of two other people and with absolutely no forewarning, if she might borrow my wedding dress. Up to that moment I didn't even know she was planning to be married. I was so taken by surprise that I mumbled, "I guess it would be all right." As it happens, my wedding dress is a very lovely one, and I had no intention of ever having anyone wear it except my own daughter. Although I said it would be all right, I certainly do not like the idea of her wearing it at all and had I been prepared, I would have said "no." Is there any way out of this situation?

Answer: The only thing I can suggest is to write her that her question so surprised you that you answered without thinking. As a matter of fact, you had put your dress carefully away in the hope that your own daughter would some day wear it at her wedding and that you do not wish to have it worn by anyone else.

Yawning in Guests' Presence

Dear Mrs. Post: What do you think of a person who invites you to her house to spend the evening and then sits and yawns practically the whole time you are there? I had this happen to me the other evening and was so annoyed, I was tempted to ask my hostess if I was boring her. Isn't this the height of bad manners?

Answer: It is hard for me to imagine a hostess as rude as this one was to you.

A Former Senator

Dear Mrs. Post: Is a man who was once a senator, but is one no longer, always called Senator So-and-So?

Answer: Even though he is no longer a senator, he continues to be called Senator So-and-So.

Enrollment Increased At Dutchess College

Robert McKinney, dean of Dutchess Community College, reported to the Board of Trustees at its September 19 meeting that with registration nearly completed for the Fall, 1960-1961 semester, except for several extension courses, the Community College has increased its enrollment considerably more than was anticipated. There are 622 full-time students and 28 part-time students for a total of 650 students enrolled in the day program. This is nearly a fifty per cent increase over the 1959-1960 enrollment at the College.

The evening and extension division is also experiencing a similar growth in total registration. Robert E. Mosely, Director of the Evening and Extension Division, reported that as of September 19, 1960, 754 students have enrolled in the evening division with registration for several extension courses not to be completed until later this month. Using these current figures, the College will be providing educational training for 1404 full-time and part-time students for the beginning Fall semester.

Dr. James F. Hall, president of the college, expressed his appreciation for the community support of the college and pointed out that with this increase in enrollment, resources of both the faculty and physical plant are being taxed to the utmost. President Hall also pointed out that while the numbers are gratifying, they do not spell success for the college program. He emphasized that with numbers goes a quality educational program and that all of the students of the Community College must understand that there will be no compromise with quality performance.

Speaking for the Board of Trustees, and being responsible for implementing the board's policies, Dr. Hall again clarified the college's position: "We at the college are very grateful to the citizens of Dutchess County and the elected representatives who serve on the Board of Supervisors for the fine support given to the college over the past two and one-half years. We shall not be worthy of that support, however, if we do not insist and follow through on providing quality programs. We must continue to demand of the students that they measure up to this quality in their individual and collective performances. Anything less in college policy would be a travesty on education and a lack of responsibility by both the administration and faculty of the college in guarding the public trust with which we are charged."

Dr. Hall further pointed out that the college in the past has not hesitated to academically dismiss from the college those students who fail to achieve quality standards. This policy will be continued.

Paltz Auxiliary Installs Officers At Legion Meeting

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Town of New Paltz American Legion Sullivan-Shafer Unit, 176, installed its new officers at their autumn meeting recently in the new Legion building.

Installing officer was Mrs. Velma Clearwater, a past Ulster County president as well as a Past Unit president.

Incoming officers are: Mrs. Edna L. Branigan, president, who has served several times as unit president and also county president; Mrs. Ellen Bennett, first vice president; Mrs. Margaret Coats, treasurer, and Mrs. Delia T. Shaw, secretary.

Mrs. Margaret Radcliffe, Sergeant-at-Arms, assisted Mrs. Clearwater with the duties of installing and escorted the new officers.

Mrs. Branigan, the newly installed president, presented a gift to outgoing president, Mrs. Marion H. Deyo, and expressed the Unit's thanks and appreciation for her untiring efforts in bringing her year of service to such a successful close.

The following were appointed to serve on committees:

Americanism, Mrs. Velma Clearwater; Empire State News, Mrs. Edna L. Branigan; Chaplain, Mrs. Delia T. Shaw; coupons, Mrs. Betty Poucher; finance, Mrs. Marie Parker, Mrs. Alice A. brouck; poppies and posters, Mrs. Edna L. Branigan; Past President's committee, Mrs. Marion H. Deyo.

Mrs. Margaret Radcliffe expressed a desire to present the Auxiliary with a new American flag in the near future.

Miss Marcia Rae Buchanan, Auxiliary's representative at the 19th Girls' State session, and David Salkever, American Legion representative at Boys' State, gave splendid reports of their activities and various highlights of this wonderful program the American Legion and Auxiliary are carrying on for high school juniors throughout the Nation. They expressed their thanks and said they had gained considerably from their interesting and unique experiences, as well as having made many new friends.

Ulster county delegates, Mrs. Edna L. Branigan, Mrs. Marion H. Deyo and Mrs. Delia T. Shaw will attend the County meeting in Wallkill on September 26.

Mrs. Velma Clearwater presented the American Flag which Sullivan-Shafer Post No. 176, American Legion, had given her late husband, Elting Clearwater, a member, at the time of his death. She said she "hoped it would wave over the Legion Post he loved so well."

The following were appointed to serve on committees:

Americanism, Mrs. Velma Clearwater; Empire State News, Mrs. Edna L. Branigan; Chaplain, Mrs. Delia T. Shaw; coupons, Mrs. Betty Poucher; finance, Mrs. Marie Parker, Mrs. Alice A. ## Paltz College Will Give 'Messiah' During December

Rehearsals will resume at the State University College of Education, New Paltz, next week for all persons who are planning to sing in "The Messiah."

According to Robert Strothenke, assistant professor of music, the rehearsals will begin Tuesday, Sept. 27 in Room 215 of the main building, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Members of the student-body, faculty, and interested persons from New Paltz and the surrounding areas began rehearsing for the presentation of Handel's "The Messiah," scheduled for December 1 and 2 in the College auditorium. This will be one of the major events in the Seventy-fifth Anniversary Celebration of the College and will also be one of the programs under the auspices of the College Artist Series.

Most of the musical activities and the music organization will suspend rehearsals and presentations and concentrate on the presentation of "The Messiah." Mr. Strothenke indicated that he was interested in persons who have had experience in singing "The Messiah" and he expressed the hope that quite a number of additional persons would attend rehearsals. He also reminded those who began practicing last spring to attend the September 27 rehearsal.

Kiwanis Mailing Out Patron List For Kapers Show

The current mailing of the patron tickets for the annual Kiwanis Kapers, scheduled for October 25-26-27, brought the comment from Vincent G. Connally, vice president of the Kiwanis Club and chairman of the 1960 version of the Kapers, that "over $30,000 realized from past Kiwanis Kapers have been utilized in scholarships and welfare funds by the local service group."

Chairman Connally emphasized the use of the funds realized from Kapers performances, as the 1960 show, "Say It With Music," swung into regular rehearsals for the three-night presentation at Kingston High School auditorium on October 25-26-27.

Written and directed by William F. Murray, the Kiwanis Kapers will feature a cast of local businessmen in an evening's program of fun and music. John Bett will direct the musical version of the show, with William Powers, Sam Castiglione and Collins Troy in charge of the choreography.

Members of the Kingston Kiwanis Club already have individual tickets on sale for the event.

Commercial baking existed as early as the sixth century B.C., and a few centuries later, bakers began appearing in Italy.

AMERICAN MENU

Good Beef Is Vital for Healthy, Alert Families

CARVING the special family steak is a moment of social—and great nutritional—importance with many American families.

Roast beef and steak are today the American symbols of the good life. Every family hopes to have beef in some form on the table several times a week—that's part of our cultural pattern in these prosperous times. It's a good pattern, not only from the viewpoint of enjoyment, but also from that of sound nutrition.

Beef is one of the complete proteins. Proteins are indispensable and normal constituents of every living cell. If members of your family do not get enough protein regularly, they might lose weight, tire easily and have less resistance to disease. If children get insufficient protein, their growth may be slow and stunted. The other most important proteins of animal origin are milk, milk products, all sorts of fish and sea food, poultry beef and other animal proteins in family meals, as well as other protective foods, cannot be overstressed in building a strong, active, eager family group. Dr. Hazel K. Stiebeling, director of the Institute of Home Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, states:

"While no one would want to underestimate the influence of modern medicine, good housing and other environmental conditions in promoting health, everyone can be sure that food comes first."

She adds this warning to everyone concerned with better American families, "The food habits of many of us do not insure that we select the variety and amount of foods we need. Most of us need guidance in nutrition."

Now for the family beef, either a royal standing beef rib roast, or a less expensive "family steak" made more tender and delicious with seasoned meat tenderizer.

Here's a colorful and delicious garnish for that Sunday rib roast: Green pepper cups filled with cooked cauliflower and topped with a cheese sauce. Simmer the green pepper cups until tender; meanwhile cook fresh cauliflower by your usual method. For an easy cheese topping, use the cheese spread that comes in a tube.

Steak for Six From One Cut of Meat

To serve a family of 4 to 6, purchase a 2-inch thick cut of top or bottom round, chuck, sirloin tip, rump, or heel of round. It should weigh 3 to 3½ pounds if boneless, or 3½ to 4 pounds with bone. Slash fat edges; Sprinkle all surfaces of meat evenly with seasoned meat tenderizer as you would salt; do not add salt. Work the tenderizer in deeply by piercing generously with a kitchen fork. This insures penetration of the tenderizer and seals in juices and flavor. Cover steak loosely and refrigerate overnight.

Alternate method. After sprinkling and piercing, allow steak to stand at room temperature one hour before cooking. When ready to broil, place meat 4 to 6 inches from source of heat. Broil 13 minutes each side for rare, 15 minutes each side for medium. When steak is done, remove from grill to meat board or platter. Carve in thin slices across the grain. Cut with your knife at a 30-degree angle to the meat board instead of perpendicular.

Plan to have more steak than you need for one meal. Use in box lunches for school or work, with slices on bread or rolls. Cubes of this family steak alternated with cheese cubes on toothpicks make a "fun" lunch for teen-agers who have to watch calories.

SUNDAY'S DINNER: Melon cup, family steak, parsley boiled potatoes, French fried eggplant, split and toasted rolls, butter or margarine, mixed green salad with tomato quarters, oil and lemon juice dressing, apple pie with vanilla ice cream, coffee, tea, milk.

Widows of Vets Are Eligible for GI Home Loans

Widows of those World War II and Korean Conflict veterans who died in service or of service-connected causes are reminded by Charles L. Culver, counselor of the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and John B. Tyler, director of the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency that they are eligible for GI home loans.

"A widow qualifies for the loan assistance even if the veteran had obtained a loan before he died," according to Culver and Tyler. "However, if the widow herself is a veteran and eligible to apply in her own rights, she does not qualify for a second or third extra loan because of her husband's death."

Widows who are interested in taking advantage of this benefit may obtain further information and assistance in filing application by contacting the State Division of Veterans Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency at 32 Main Street, Kingston, or any of the branch offices located at Ellenville, Highland, Kerhonkson and Saugerties.

Binghamton Paper Changes Name Today

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—The Binghamton Press, which took that name more than 56 years ago, became The Evening Press today.

In announcing the name-change Thursday, the afternoon newspaper said it not only served Binghamton proper but was "the hometown newspaper of many communities of the multi-county area" surrounding Binghamton.

"This development was underscored just recently when the Press became the only evening newspaper to serve the Endicott-Vestal-Endwell area," the Press said in an editorial.

The Binghamton Sun, a morning newspaper, purchased the evening Endicott Bulletin Aug. 31 and began publication the next day of The Binghamton Sun-Bulletin, a combination morning news-paper. The Evening Press is a member of the Gannett Group.

Man Gets Life
In Girl's Murder

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A judge has denied a former New York State policeman's request for the death penalty and sentenced him to life imprisonment for strangling his girl friend.

Gordon G. Starr, 28, formerly of Elmira, N.Y., asked Judge Clarence Harden of Superior Court Thursday to sentence him to death.

Starr was convicted Sept. 7 of first-degree murder in the slaying of Miss Patricia J. Humphrey, 25, in an apartment they had been sharing.

"She made the mistake of crossing me once to often," police quoted him as saying.

Starr and Miss Humphrey met in San Antonio, Tex., where she lived. They had come here six weeks before the slaying.

Starr has a wife and four children in Elmira.

Now you're dead.' At first I played the game with him and put my hands up. But this has only encouraged the 'killing' talk. My husband says that he will grow out it but it makes me uncomfortable."

Answer: Then remove the rifle. Remove it from your little boy as simply and unconcernedly as you'd remove any other worrisome object from him.

NEW YORK (AP)—The summer drought is over and now the new fall shows are starting literally to pour in.

During the next week, for example, nine series will make their debuts on the three major networks, presidential candidates Richard M. Nixon and John F. Kennedy will have the first of their face-to-face TV meetings, there will be two dramatic specials and Fred Astaire makes his annual appearance on our screens.

Debate Big Event

Tonight, there's the premiere of NBC's 60-minute "Dan Raven," a police-action show based on Hollywood's Sunset Strip (7:30-8:30 Eastern Daylight Time).

Monday afternoon (4:30-5) NBC will show it's new "Here's Hollywood," a series of visits to the stars in their homes. But the big event of the day is the Nixon-Kennedy session, which will be carried by all three networks, 9:30-10:30 p.m., live from Chicago.

Tuesday ABC's "Closeup," a public affairs series, starts (9-10 p.m.) with an examination of prejudice in the North. At the same time (9 p.m.) "The Tom Ewell Show," a situation comedy, bows in on CBS. And at 10, NBC's Hour of Great Mysteries will do "The Cat and The Canary."

Astaire Returning
"Hong Kong," ABC's action series about glamorous foreign correspondents, starts Wednesday night (7:30-8:30) and later (10-11) there's "Astaire Time" with Barrie Chase and Count Basie on NBC.

One must make a decision about the 7:30-8:30 p.m. hour Thursday night. CBS' "The Witness" series premieres with a drama about Lucky Luciano, but so does NBC's hour-long "Outlaws," a Western, and ABC's "Guestward Ho," a half-hour situation comedy. At 9 p.m. there is ABC's "My Three Sons," with Fred MacMurray.

NEW YORK (AP)—During the past couple of years ABC, once a poor third among the three major television networks, has fought its way to equality with its big sisters in the hearts of the viewers and the checkbooks of the sponsors.

Secret of its success, if you look at its program schedules, has been to give the home viewers plenty of action—in police cars, on horseback, anywhere—and "counter-programming."

That means that if NBC and

CBS have a variety show and a situation comedy in one spot, ABC will fill it with a Western—or anything that is different from the fare offered by the competition.

ABC will continue to counter-program—but now it is interested in an almost abandoned area which once gave prestige of the other two: regular dramatic shows, although we know there is a strong interest in them."

ABC also is currently interested in expanding its news and public affairs programming.

The consumption rate of soft drinks last year reached 199.8 bottles for every man, woman and child in the country.

Evelyn Gross Hits 612 In Mixed Foursome Loop

Evelyn Gross rolled her second "600" triple of the season last night, stacking games of 212, 207 and 193 for a 612 pinfall in the Mixed Foursome league at the Bowlero.

It was the third 600 series for local women this season. Mrs. Gross rolled 622 on Sept. 11. Sis Balash was the other to hit the 600 mark.

The 612 by the Blonde Bomber earned league honors.

Runnerup was Nels Hoff with 237-594. Jack Houghtaling posted 212-579 and Ethel Henderson continued her merry clip with 545.

Many Top Tilts Are Scheduled To Be Played

Two games under the arc-lights and ten tomorrow afternoon will start the scholastic gridiron season rolling this weekend. Only Kingston and Poughkeepsie among area clubs will be idle. The Maroon of Bill Burke will host Port Jervis next Friday night under the Dietz Stadium lights while Poughkeepsie opens the following day against Middletown.

Burke will be at Port Jervis tonight watching the Raiders open against a strong Nyack eleven. The Porters are not figured too high in the pre-season DUSO League selections, but Coach Joe Viglione will send a seasoned squad into action. Nyack won a close contest last season and is favored to repeat.

Arlington, a darkhorse for the DCSL title, is at Liberty for a meeting with the Indians and Fritz Jordan's spirited team should bring home a victory. After several lackluster seasons, Arlington came alive in football during 1959 and is still on the upswing.

Saugerties, Onteora and Rondout Valley will make their initial appearances tomorrow. The Sawyers invade Red Hook and rule slight favorites to open the season on a victory note. Onteora will have trouble at Pawling and Rondout Valley is favored over Dover Plains. Coach Chick Meehan's gridders will play their games at the Marbletown School field in Stone Ridge.

DCSL Opens

The DCSL circuit will swing into action with defending champion Highland hosting Roosevelt of Hyde Park and Beacon playing at Cardinal Farley Military Academy. Highland is seeking a fourth consecutive crown and Beacon figures to be strong opposition. Both are favored to win their openers.

Three other UCAL clubs will be playing for the first time. New Paltz, the defending champion of the circuit, will play Millbrook and this could be one of the closest games of the afternoon. Pine Bush of the Orange County League will test Wallkill and Marlboro at Haldane, a Putnam County School. The Wappingers Falls Indians will open with a non-league opponent, Hudson.

For most of the schools, this will mark the only outside competition. Action in all the leagues will be underway next week.

Yankees In Boston For Series

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees, once more the big team in the American League, open a three-game series at Boston tonight with a chance to wrap up their 25th pennant. And they couldn't pick a better place to do it.

It was at Fenway Park last year that the Red Sox swept a five-game series in mid-July knocking the Yankees out of the 1959 race and sending the defending world champions to a third place finish.

Now the Yankees, who have won six in a row and 10 of their last 12, could nail the payoff on their way to come back. They go into Fenway against the seventh-place Red Sox with nine games left. They need to win five of those to clinch the pennant—no matter what the second place White Sox or third place Baltimore Orioles do. The White Sox, who trail by 4½, have eight games remaining. Baltimore, behind by five, has seven left.

Combination Is Five

Any combination of Yank victories and White Sox defeats totaling five could send New York into the World Series against the Pittsburgh Pirates—who all but officially clinched their first National League flag in 33 years Thursday by sweeping the Chicago Cubs 3-2, in 11 innings, and 6-1. No other games were scheduled in the majors.

That gave the Pirates a six-game streak and a 7½-game bulge over second place St. Louis with seven to play while reducing their magic number to two. The Bucs' sweep eliminated third place Milwaukee.

The Yankees, who play their next six games on the road, have a 9-7 edge over Boston for the season, but only a 4-4 mark at Fenway Park. Right-hander Bob Turley (8-3) goes for New York tonight against Billy Muffett (6-3), a right-handed NL castoff with a 2-0 record over the Yankees. He beat them 7-1 with a three-hitter at Yankee Stadium in their last meeting.

If the White Sox avoid elimination during a three-game set at Cleveland this weekend (and the Orioles hang on during a three-game series at Washington, the Yankees get another chance at the flag when they play three at Washington starting Monday night).

They play their final three games at Yankee Stadium, against Boston, next weekend.

The favorite snack of American TV viewers is potato chips. Candy ranks second, then fruit, cookies, nuts and dry cereals.

Bucs Can Win Title Tonight

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

This could be the day Pittsburgh has awaited for 33 years. This is the day the Pirates could win the National League pennant, their first since the 1927 Bucs won on the next to last day of the season.

Those Pirates of 33 years ago did it with a 9-6 decision at Cincinnati, clinching the flag with their 94th victory while the second place St. Louis Cardinals were 91.

Now, with the Cardinals again in second place, the Pirates' magic number is down to two after sweeping a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs, 3-2 and 6-1, in the only games scheduled in the major leagues Thursday.

That sweep, eliminating third place Milwaukee, set up today's chance to nail the pennant—if the Pirates can parlay a victory at Milwaukee tonight with a Cardinal split in an afternoon doubleheader at Chicago.

If the Cards take two from the Cards, the Pirates will be champs when they take the field against the Braves.

Need Two Wins

No matter what the Cardinals do—even if they should sweep the 10 remaining games—the Pirates can clinch by winning just two of the seven they have left.

That would set up the October 5 opener of the World Series at Pittsburgh's Forbes Field against the New York Yankees—who aren't quite as close to packing away the American League flag, but who could do it in a three-game weekend set at Boston. The Yankees—whose 1927 crew walked the Pirates four straight in the 1927 World Series—have their magic number down to five over second place Chicago and four over third place Baltimore.

The Pirates, with an 11-5 season bulge over the Braves and a 5-3 mark at Milwaukee, send right-hander Red Witt (1-1) against right-hander Bob Buhl (14-9), who is 2-1 against the Bucs.

Don Hoak and pinch-hitter Gene Baker wrapped up the Pirates' sweep over the Cubs. Baker's bases-loaded, one-out single won the 11-inning opener. Hoak, who was 2-for-4 in each game and triggered the first game rally with a single, lined a three-run double as the Bucs came from behind with five runs in the third inning of the nightcap.

Eddy Face (10-7) was the first game winner. Pitching two innings of two-hit relief after Vern Law gave way to a pinch-hitter in a bid for his 21st victory. The two right-handers shut out the Cubs on three hits over the last seven innings.

Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell (13-8) beat the Cubs in the second game. Don Cardwell and Bob Anderson were the losers.

Senior Golfers In Second Round

OSTERVILLE, Mass. (AP)—If at first you don't succeed, try again. That seems to be the line of "New Jersey banker J. Wolcott Brown in the U.S. Seniors Golf Championship.

A beaten finalist a year ago, Brown Thursday won his first round match in another attempt to capture the elusive crown.

"I hope I can do it this time," said the 57-year-old campaigner after he and 15 other successful veterans moved into today's second round of this annual classic for golf's oldsters (55 and older) at Oyster Harbord.

Brown eliminated John McGuire of Indianapolis 2 and 1. He overcame Dr. John Mercer of Fitchburg, Mass., today.

While Brown was polishing off McGuire, medalist Stuart S. Rockey, the 65-year-old Los Angeles real estate appraiser and a number of other favored qualifiers joined Brown in the second round.

Rockey, who ousted Calvin McCarthy from Peabody, Mass., 5 and 4, may face some tough opposition in darkhorse David Rose of Cleveland.

Rose scored the upset Thursday by eliminating the lone former titlist left in the field, Thomas Robbins of Pinehurst, N.C., 6 and 4.

Also going after the title in today's double rounds were three hot favorites: Mike Cestone of Jamesburg, N.J.; Jim Molinari of San Francisco and Ed Lowry another Californian from Frisco.

Hemus Receives $40,000 Contract

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Solly Hemus—a fighter never noted for patience in his playing days—now has a $40,000 managerial contract with the St. Louis Cardinals because he curbed his temper and went along with his young players.

The Redbirds were a seventh place club in 1959, Solly's first season, and long-range building program produced sooner than expected this season as the Cards jumped to second place and challenged Pittsburgh.

Hemus admits "I wasn't a real good manager last year. I was learning and the club management backed me with the pressure on them."

This is why, explained the 36-year-old Texan, "I didn't seriously consider asking for a two-year contract. And club policy is to give one-year contracts."

Hemus received a raise of about $10,000 and his entire coaching staff—Johnny Keane, Harry Walker, Howard Polet and Darrel Johnson—was signed at higher pay.

Syracuse Launches Bid for Second National Grid Title

By JACK CLARY

Associated Press Sports Writer
The overture was played last week, a short introduction is planned for tonight and the big show begins Saturday — the 1960 edition of the college football season.

That overture set the mood for a plot that is going to pit defending national champion Syracuse against Mississippi, currently heading the first Associated Press poll, and Washington as the main characters supporting roles held by Alabama, Kansas, UCLA and Oregon State. A shakeup of the cast is not unforeseen before the curtain rises.

Tonight, Iowa State, one of the Big Eight's strong teams, meets Detroit while Washington State is at Denver. Hardin-Simmons travels to Mississippi Southern, Brigham Young is at San Jose State and Southeast Missouri meets Drake in other games.

Saturday Syracuse unveils its latest powerhouse against Boston University, a 20-0 loser last week to Penn State.

Opened With Rush

Ole Miss scored its six touchdowns in a 42-0 rout of Houston last week on passes, and held the Cougars to only 88 yards rushing and 75 passing. This week the Rebels open their Southeastern Conference season against Kentucky, a 23-13 loser to Georgia Tech last Saturday.

Washington faces Idaho in another comparatively easy task after whipping College of Pacific a week ago.

Alabama, ranked fifth after upsetting defending SEC champ Georgia, plays surprising Tulane, a 7-3 victor over California, also an upset. Seventh-ranked Kansas, after knocking off Texas Christian, is supposed to have an easier time with Kansas State while UCLA, 8-7 conqueror of strong Pitt, travels to the Big Ten area to meet Purdue, the UCLAns are rated eighth.

Flyweight King Plans to Fight As Bantamweight

By PATRICK MCNULTY

Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — World flyweight champion Pone Kingpetch said today, after disposing of ex-champ Pascual Perez of Argentina in eight bloody rounds, he plays to campaign as a bantamweight.

And jockey-sized Perez, one of the greats of the 112-pound division, said he's not thinking of retiring.

The rematch Thursday night between the handsome, lanky batter from Bangkok and the stocky Argentine was decided by Kingpetch's savage body punches.

"I fought according to plan and I was not surprised when the referee stopped the fight," said Kingpetch, unruffled, inscrutable and undisputed king of boxing's smallest division.

The 34-year-old Perez, 10 years older and seven inches shorter than the champion, complained bitterly after Referee Mushy Calahan stopped the bout at 2:32 of the eighth.

"I was not knocked down," said the 5-foot onetime pal of Argentina's ex-Dictator Peron. "I have fought 15 rounds many times and I could have continued."

Referee Calahan said, "Perez was all through." Kingpetch was hitting him at will."

Kingpetch weighed 111 1/2, a pound more than Perez, who lost the title to the lean Thaialander in Bangkok last April.

Army Expects Tough Battle

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP) — Army, an easy winner over Buffalo in its opening game, expects a tougher opposition Saturday from Boston College at Michie Stadium.

RICHARD BOTTOMLEY rolled 570 on games of 212, 178, 190 to lead the Mannie Barber Shop league with 570. Tony Sicker fired 209-540, Larry Decker 173-191-212. Other leaders were Frank Perrin 201-540 and Al Roosa 514.

JOE DIAMOND'S 531, with 175-189-193 for a 493 series to pace the Girls' Nitcap League at New Paltz. Although Boston College lost its first game to Navy 22-7, the Eagles held the Middies even 7-7 in the first half. Ernie Heffler, new BC coach, has a veteran team including quarterback John Amabile who passed for 1,200 yards last season.

Army's new quarterback, Tom Blanda, completed eight of 13 passes for 94 yards against Buffalo.

Coach Dale Hall, rebuilding after losing both ends and Bob Anderson and Joe Caldwell from his 1959 backfield, uncovered a fine sophomore fullback in George Papas, a replacement for regular Al Rushatz.

Army has won all of the three games between the two clubs, piling up a 44-8 score last year.

Denver, Titans In AL Contests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Denver Broncos, pre-season doormats but regular-season giants, face the New York Titans and the Boston Patriots go against the Buffalo Bills tonight in American Football League games.

The Broncs' about-face has everyone in the league — with the possible exception of Titan Coach Sammy Baugh — astounded. They lost all five of their exhibition games, gave up 200 points (40 a game) and scored only 53 points.

Now they sport a 2-0 record and lead the Western Division. Only Houston, leader of the Eastern Division, can show another undefeated record.

"Denver looked at 50 to 60 players during every exhibition game," explained Baugh, "and when you are testing that many players you're not going to get much of a chance to put together a real team."

"Lately, they've picked up a lot of experienced players and are a solid club, both defensively and offensively."

Syracuse Launches Season Heavy Choice Over Boston

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Syracuse University's football team opens its season Saturday against Boston University amidst speculation whether it will be as powerful as the 1959 national champions.

While Syracuse plays before an expected crowd of 30,000 at Archbold Stadium, Cornell and Colgate will inaugurate their seasons at Ithaca.

Coach Ben Schwartzwalder, gloomy the past week because of illness among the Syracuse players, seeks to repeat last season's 46-0 opening-game triumph over BU.

Three outstanding backfield veterans and an All-American end head the fast-driving Orange. Schwartzwalder is counting mostly on fullback Art Baker, halfback Ernie Davis and quarterback Dave Sarette and end Fred Mautino, the All-American.

Only veteran halfbacks Mark Weber and Bobby Hart were expected to miss the game because of leg injuries. Pete Brokaw, a junior, will spell Weber at wing-back.

Ran Against Penn

Boston, beaten 20-0 by Penn State last week, ground out 269 yards in the mud and rain. The weather prevented Jackie Farland, a capable passer, from displaying his ability.

Cornell and Colgate will meet for the 47th time before an expected gathering of 17,000, including 5,500 high school bandmen. Cornell has won 32 of the games. Two ended in ties.

The Big Red will be minus veteran halfback Marcello Tino, who is out for the season with an injured knee. George Telesh, a quick-hitting junior, will take his place. Johnn Bebbly will fill in at fullback for Telesh.

Colgate's swift backfield is headed by Capt. John Maloney, Jacque MacKinnon and Tom Scull. Bob Paske does the passing from his quarterback post.

Driver Complaints Settled, Buses Back on Schedule

Reported complaints among drivers of Adirondack Lines, Inc., which led to a Sept. 15 walkout described as a "wildcat strike" were said today to have been generally settled in meetings Thursday between union members and representatives of management.

Most of the line's drivers, who are members of Carl Yetzer Lodge No. 682, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, left their jobs early Sept. 15, but returned for night runs Sept. 16 on reported order of W. P. Kennedy, the union's grand lodge president with headquarters at Cleveland.

Full explanation of what had caused the walkout, was not given but some of the drivers indicated dissatisfaction with time schedules put into effect with start of the fall time table Sept. 15.

A spokesman for management said today that all appeared to be in order and all scheduled runs were in operation as they had been since the men returned to their jobs Sept. 16.

Cornell and Colgate will meet for the 47th time before an expected gathering of 17,000, including 5,500 high school bandmen. Cornell has won 32 of the games. Two ended in ties.

Governor Going To Nigeria to Represent Ike

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller will fly to Nigeria next Thursday to represent President Eisenhower at the celebration of Nigerian independence.

The President also will be represented by Joseph Palmer, a career foreign-service officer.

Although the celebration will begin Monday, Rockefeller will delay his departure to campaign in Nassau County Wednesday with Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee.

Rockefeller will attend a GOP fund-raising dinner Thursday in New York City, and leave for Africa around midnight, his office said. Mrs. Rockefeller will accompany him. They will return Oct. 3, the day before the celebration ends.

Town Group Elects Onondaga Man Head

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Milton L. Baker of LaFayette, Onondaga County, was elected president of the New York State Association of Town Superintendents Thursday at the group's annual meeting.

He succeeds Archie G. Edstam of New Hartford, Oneida County.

Other officers elected to one-year terms were Sterling W. Theis of Orangefield, first vice president; Nattie E. Eastman of Portville, second vice president; Fred M. Roth of Ridgebury, third vice president; and Harry Steger of Pomfret, fourth vice president.

The three-day meeting ended yesterday.

P-TA Meets Sept. 28

The first meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association at the Central High School will be held Wednesday, Sept. 28, when Frederick Dippel, supervising principal, will introduce the staff of new members and present a preview of the coming year's schedule.

Refreshments will be served under the chairmanship of Gertrude Robinson.

Area Social Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Orze are the parents of a son born Sept. 18 at Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

Mr. and Mrs. William Russell have moved from the Town of Highland to their newly purchased home here on Route 32.

Frederick Dippel, supervising principal, reported that both the Campus School and St. Joseph's Parochial School have reached capacity, and that as the student population grows, it will be forced to attend the Central School. He also pointed out that with two new schools by next year, in five more years, more school rooms would be needed.

The board agreed that the business manager, Frank Hamilton, should get in touch with the State Engineer in regard to school bus stop signs at the corners of Route 299 and Butterfield Road, and along Route 32 at Cedar Ridge Road.

The resignation of Mrs. Barbara Russell was accepted with regret, and it was decided to offer a probationary appointment to Mrs. Laureta Pratt to teach the third grade in her place.

A resolution was passed to offer a probationary appointment also to Joseph Altilio to teach English and physical education.

A complaint was filed against the Town of Lloyd for failing to comply with the law in completing and filing the tax rolls for the coming year before Aug. 15. Assessors of the Town of Lloyd had refused to file their tax books until after the present litigation concerning the specific franchise tax of the bridge, and the property of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad is determined. Part of the school tax budget includes a small section of the town of Lloyd.

The school board has received a village water bill of $793 for June, July and August. Hamilton, business manager, reported that this is the highest bill ever received for a three-month period. He informed the board that the village had installed a new water meter at the school.

In view of the fact that there was no school during July and August, the board feels that the new meter is faulty.

It was decided that Charles Van Alst and Gerald DuBois, members of the school board, will meet the members of the village board to discuss and settle this problem.

Dippel will also ask the Parent-Teacher Association to help during the lunch hour in the cafeteria.

John Ashton Jr., president of the school board presided. Other board members present were Richard Fall, Charles Van Alst, Walter Dyer, George Langwick, Gerald DuBois, and Mrs. John Jacobson. Elementary Supervisor or Joseph Van Auken was also present.

Odell Johnston graduated from Saugerties High School. Until recently his mother lived in her house on Market Street.

Mrs. Smith is a graduate of Saratoga Springs High School, and Green Mountain College, Poultney, Vermont.

Mrs. Alma Stokes Young of West Camp is in Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill.

LeRoy Lewis of Cementon, a former resident of Malden, is at Veterans Administration Hospital, Albany, where he underwent eye surgery for the removal of a cataract on Monday. A cataract was removed successfully from the other eye on August 23.

The youth fellowships of Flatbush and Saugerties Reformed Churches will have a box social Sunday from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Saugerties Church. Games and dancing will follow the meal.

South was definitely interested in a slam once his partner gave him a jump raise but chose to invite by means of the club cue bid rather than a Blackwood four no-trump. South had two reasons for this. The first was that if North held a poor jump raise five spades might be in danger; the second that if North showed one ace only South could not jump to six with any confidence since the opponents might take two heart tricks right off the bat.

North's four heart bid settled both South's worries. Now he was interested in seven and invited it by his four and five no-trump bids.

Playing at six, South can try for seven by drawing trumps and taking both the club and diamond finesse but this play will also jeopardize his contract.

The correct play is to win the heart lead in dummy; draw trumps with two leads. Cash the other high heart; ruff a heart; enter dummy with a third trump; ruff dummy's last heart and play ace and queen of clubs.

This play abandons the club finesse, but enables South to make his contract without any

Receive $17,514
Bid to Install
Traffic Counters

ALBANY — J. Burch McMorran, state superintendent of public works, announced receipt of a low bid of $17,514.53 from Landolfe Electrical Corp., Mt. Vernon, for installation of permanent radar-type traffic counters at 13 locations—on Route 23 near Hillsdale, Columbia County; on Route 9 south of Hyde Park; on Route 9 on Washington Street between Mansion and Marshall Streets, Poughkeepsie; on Route 9G north of Poughkeepsie; on Route 22 south of Ardenia, Dutchess County; on Route 17 near Oxford, on Route 52 east of Walden, Orange County; on Route 9W north of Highland, on Route 32 north of New Paltz; on the Hutchinson River Parkway, on Route 1 north of the Route 125 junction in Mamakonack, and on Route 119 near Port Chester, Westchester County. One bid was received.

The radar detectors will be located about 16 feet above the highway pavement, and will be suspended from cables stretched across the road between steel poles. When vehicles pass under the detectors a cabinet-contained counter mounted on one of the poles at the side of the highway is activated to automatically record the count.

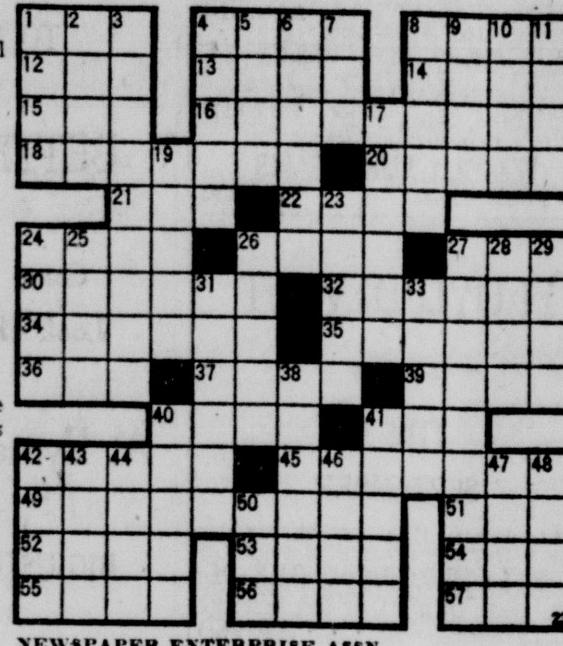

Work is expected to begin shortly after a contract is officially executed. The contract will be awarded — following a routine check by state engineers of all bids received—to the contractor who is found to have submitted the lowest valid bid. There usually is a lapse of about one month between receipt of bids and contract award.

Scheduled for completion by December 30, all work will be under the supervision of Kurt G. Rauer, district engineer in charge of the Department's district office at Poughkeepsie.

Closets are where kids find birthday presents hidden there to keep kids from finding them.

An Ohio boy shot himself in the foot so he'd look like a hero to his girl friend. Now he hasn't a leg to stand on.

All little city kids should be taken to the country so they'll know that flowers don't grow on women's hats.

A Kansas man has just become a father for the eleventh time. Guess who he'll pick on his All-American football team this fall.

Trade Mark Reg.

There are two ways of spreading light--to be the candle or the mirror that reflects it.

Papa was reading the paper but that didn't do junior any good. He wanted his father to read him a story.

Please, papa, he pleaded for the seventh time, read me a story.

Father sighed heavily, put his paper aside and moaned gracelessly.

Father -- All right, all right. What do you want me to read?

Junior -- Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves, was the prompt response.

Father (as he picked up his paper and inhaled his sigh) -- No good, son, that story is not for you because you're too young to vote anyway.

First Soldier -- Do you like it here?

Second Soldier -- Yes.

First Soldier -- You must have a terrible home life.

Show me the man your honor, and I'll show you what kind of a man you are, for it shows me what your ideal of manhood is, and what kind of a man you long to be.

3 Steelworkers Sue for Old Jobs, $225,000 Damages

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A $225,000 damage suit has been filed by three steelworkers who were dismissed after refusing to answer questions of the House Un-American Activities Committee in 1957.

Miroslaw Zelazni, Edward A. Wokenstein and Everett Jones, all of Buffalo, also are asking return of their jobs in the suit in Federal District Court here Thursday.

The three men, who named the United Steelworkers of America and Bethlehem Steel Corp. as defendants, invoked the Fifth Amendment during the committee's local hearings.

The suit claims the company fired the men arbitrarily and the union failed to support them through grievance procedure.

They asked damages of $75,000 each.

Cattle, sheep and hogs, taken together, are almost as numerous as men.

May Be of Value to Moscow Some Day*Tito Speech on Congo Seems To Please Khrushchev in U.N.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev looked at his foreign minister, Andrei A. Gromyko, and smiled. He seemed pleased.

On the rostrum at the U.N. General Assembly session was the self-assured enigma of the cold war, President Tito of Yugoslavia. He had just remarked about the situation in the Congo.

An onlooker wondered: Were Tito and Khrushchev much closer than the world outside the Red orbit might suspect? Tito claims to be a neutral, but his Assembly address indicated neutrality heavily weighted on the Soviet side.

Tito was probably thrown out of the Communist satellite family by Stalin in 1948, ostensibly in a fight over Moscow's right to dictate. He never got back in, although he came close just before the revolution in Hungary tossed the Communist world into an uproar.

Now, in the light of the ideological row with the Red Chinese, Khrushchev himself looks more and more like a Titoist. The Red Chinese are all but saying so outright. The exigencies of the time require some new Communist policy twists, and the day may not be far off when Tito can be of great value to Moscow.

Leans Toward Moscow

How about Tito's speech? Well, he pictured himself as a potential bridge between two colossal powers, the Soviet Union and the United States.

How did this neutralism sound? It seemed to go down the line for Khrushchev to a greater extent than might have been expected.

Take this remark: "Owing to the policy pursued toward dependent and newly independent countries by the colonial powers as well as by other powers which support this policy for various reasons—conflicts and crises arise as in the case of the Congo, or
